Thirteenth Annual County Fair To Open Wednesday

DOORS WILL BE OPENED IN MORNING

Formal Ceremonies to Be Held in Evening With C. C. Chapman Speaker

PARADE AT 2 O'CLOCK

Feature Exhibits in Place And Final Touches Are Being Put On Booths

NOISE... color... excitement... hoarse calls from puzzled animals, far from their accustomed surroundings, the rapid tattoo of hammers pounding on scaffolding and booths, massed flowers throwing their fragrance into the air to blend with the acrid scent of sawdust, jangling telephone bells, "Call for Lake," "Call for Kelsey," heavy trucks rattling their way in with materials for exhibits, fruits, flowers, animals, ferris wheels, equipment for amusement stands.

And out of this chaos was today being wrought the order which tomorrow will greet the first patrons of the thirteenth annual Orange county fair, when at its grounds on the state highway between Santa Ana and Anaheim, its gates will open to the multitudes at 10 o'clock. Every minute thereafter promises to be filled with entertainment of value and interest, culminating in the formal opening at 7 o'clock in the evening with the Hon. C. C. Chapman of Anaheim as principal speaker.

Early patrons of the fair will find ample entertainment throughout the day, declared Mrs. J. V. Kelsey today as she outlined the completed plans for the opening day. Sight-seeing will fill any morning hours after the gates are opened at 10 o'clock, and at 1 o'clock will come the first concert by the Santa Monica band, directed by Harold Roberts. El Rodeo Riding club will present the next entertainment feature, and all who are aware of the activities of this prominent county organization, will anticipate the riding events which will open with a grand parade at 2 o'clock.

Band Music

Half an hour of band music by the Santa Monica players will precede the formal opening at 7 o'clock, when, with Chapman as chief speaker, will be shorter talks by

French Film Body Seeks Increase In Duty On Pictures

PARIS, Aug. 27.—(UP)—A proposal to increase the customs duties on American motion pictures and eliminate the contingent system has been made to the American film men here by a delegation from the Chambre Syndicate, the official French film body.

The executive committee of the Chambre until the present has refused to approve the project although the Americans heartily favor it inasmuch as it would mean free circulation in France of United States pictures.

Negotiations have been in progress for a month seeking to persuade the committee to approve the proposal.

Lifer Free Because Of Illness

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Aug. 27.—(UP)—Through illness Garcia Gallur, serving life sentence for murder in prison here, sought freedom and obtained it.

The noted composer of music and leader of the prison band left San Quentin today for a San Francisco hospital to regain health after sustaining a paralytic stroke.

Gallur was a soloist in Sousa's band and a member of the Golden Gate park band at the time he was convicted of the murder of August Hotchkiss, a money lender, in 1915.

During his life in prison he organized a band and led it. He composed music, including several well known marches.

SPEICH NOT TO START FLIGHT IN SANTA ANA

Local Aviator Will Endeavor to Break Record In Long Beach

THE START of the next attempt at shattering the solo endurance flight record without refueling will be made at the Long Beach Municipal airport, Vernon Speich, Santa Ana pilot, who is making the attempt, announced today.

Speich was in Long Beach yesterday and completed arrangements for the takeoff at the field there, which is scheduled for 6 o'clock Friday morning. The lack of a properly surfaced runway for use with such a heavy load near Santa Ana was the factor in making the change to the Long Beach field.

The Zenith biplane, heavily loaded with 514 gallons of gasoline and 25 gallons of oil, was only able to get 15 feet into the air at the Eddie Martin airport south of Santa Ana, when the flight was attempted last Friday noon. The plane was then forced down when it was struck by a down draft of air as it passed over a slight hill at the far end of the field. The failure to get up sufficient speed to properly launch the craft into the air was attributed to the soft condition of the runway by the pilot, and several futile attempts were made to get the necessary backing to finance sprinkling and rolling the course before the start was transferred to Long Beach.

The field in Long Beach has an oil runway one and a half miles in length, which Speich states should enable him to gain sufficient speed to properly put his ship in the air. Headquarters will be maintained at the Long Beach field during the flight, which is expected to last for 48 hours. The present record is 36 hours and 56 minutes. Speich stated that he planned to fly over Santa Ana each evening while he was aloft at about 6 o'clock to keep in touch those interested in the attempt here.

ARIZONA GROWERS JOIN STATE GROUP

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 27.—(UP)—The Arizona Citrus Growers' association at Phoenix, co-operative marketing organization handling most of the oranges and grapefruit of the Salt River valley, will market through the California Fruit Growers' exchange next season, according to an announcement here today.

MUNICIPAL AIRPORT, CLEVELAND, Aug. 27.—(UP)—Major J. Carroll Cone, Little Rock, Ark., was the first Miami to Cleveland air derby flyer to land today. He crossed the finish line at 2:03 p. m. from Cincinnati.

George Halsey, Kansas City, was second.

Robert E. Dake, Pittsburgh, was third.

John Albert Fife, Pittsburgh, came in fourth.

COUNCIL TO ASK FOR 10,000 HORSEPOWER OF BOULDER DAM

HOOVER OFFER TO GOVERNORS BEING SCANNED

SALT LAKE CONFERENCE NOT SO SURE PLAN OF PRESIDENT ACCEPTABLE

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Aug. 27.—(UP)—Governors of western states, meeting here to consider problems of mutual importance to the west, were undecided today whether the government's offer to transfer surface rights of public lands to the states is a fine large "gift horse" or a fine large "white elephant" which the government is trying to get off its hands.

The government's proposal to transfer the surface rights of the public domain to state control was contained in President Hoover's message delivered to the conference yesterday by Assistant Secretary of Interior Joseph M. Dixon.

"It is proverbially impolite to look a gift horse in the mouth," said Gov. George H. Dern of Utah, "but if at first glance the horse looks as if he would eat more than he can produce the donee may be pardoned for looking at his teeth."

"The western states appreciate the compliment of being assured that they are man grown and that they can be trusted to administer the proposed new heritage more wisely than it can be done from the offices of the national capital," Gov. Dern added, "but they cannot help wondering why they should not be deemed wise enough to administer the minerals contained in the public lands."

The attitude of other governors, expressed inferentially, was, in the main, that they are willing to accept the surface right as a step toward the desired goal, but that the struggle should be carried forward until western states had acquired full rights to all lands expressed.

Troops Rushed To Save Jews From Murder

Arab Moslems Concentrating for Attack on Jewish City of Tel-Aviv

YERUSALEM, Aug. 27.—(UP)—Strong forces of Arab Moslems were concentrating before the populous Jewish center of Tel-Aviv today with the apparent intention of storming the city. A detachment of British troops was dispatched under full marching orders to aid in the defense of the community.

According to local Jewish sources the Arabs contemplate attacking Tel-Aviv in full force before the arrival in Palestine of additional English troops which were being rushed here from several sections of the empire. Tel-Aviv has a Jewish population of 40,000.

Intermittent fighting continued in several points in spite of the arrival of additional troops. The bazaars and business places in the principal towns of the riot zone were closed today. Several new outbreaks were reported from various points.

The Arabs captured and looted the village of Afula yesterday, adding several new Jewish casualties to the rapidly mounting list. According to the best available information at present there were more than 100 killed since the outbreaks began last Friday.

The American consul has left for Hebron, where a number of American students at the Rabbinical seminary were killed in the Arab onslaught.

Shooting and looting continued in the suburbs even after the arrival of British reinforcements, although the patrols, supported by machine guns and armored cars, managed to establish some sort of order in the more populous parts of the city.

In the outlying districts the fighting has not entirely halted. At Jaffa the British were forced to place two machine guns at

FEDERAL FARM BOARD HEAD IS SOCIAL "DUD"

Tells Washington Society Place at Table Means Nothing to Him

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—(UP)—Adhering to the social rules he knew as a cowpuncher, Alexander Legge, chairman of the federal farm board, has decided where he ought to sit at the grand social fetes in Washington, a problem which has perplexed capital hostesses ever since the Gann controversy.

Legge, who gave up a $100,000 a year position to serve his government in a position not so high socially as the one he held has decided that he will not demand a seat at the head of the table. That is too much to ask he believes. Neither will he allow himself to be seated at the foot of the table, where his position rates him.

Instead, the chairman of the farm board, will demand standing room only in the kitchen. Then, if the hostesses felt the soup course is being delayed because of the crowded kitchen, he will be satisfied to wait for a second table.

Emerging from a meeting of farm leaders, Legge, in shirt sleeves, commented that when it comes to society "I'm a dud."

"What a predicament for an ex-cowpuncher to be in," the long, lean farm leader said.

Then he explained how he had settled, at least in his own mind, the question whether he should sit before or behind the twelfth assistant secretary of state.

"One day my stenographer asked me what she should say to some of the Washington ladies who had started asking my family history about the first day I took my new position. I told her I'd talk for myself and pretty soon I got a chance, when some young social secretary, phoned to say he didn't want to make any mistake about my social status."

"My first claim to any prominence, I told this fellow, was robbing Wells-Fargo stage coaches. When they went out I took up train robbing."

"Since I've been in Chicago, I

Two Men Killed, Woman Injured As Airplane Crashes

BOSTON, Aug. 27.—(UP)—Two men lost their lives and a woman companion was perhaps fatally injured today when a Cessna, monoplane participating in the Philadelphia to Cleveland air derby crashed up in attempting to land at this control point.

The plane was reported to have been traveling at 150 miles an hour shortly before the crash, which occurred near the breakwater at the Boston airport.

Air officials announced the victim had been tentatively identified as Mr. and Mrs. "Red" Deveraux, of Washington, and an oil company representative named Reis. Earlier reports had indicated that the victims were Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Yost, of Coeymans, Pa., and George Volton.

One of the men was killed instantly. The other died at a Boston hospital.

C. C. Pyle Named In Complaint By Famous Athlete

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 27.—(UP)—C. C. Pyle, derby promoter, was the defendant today in another suit for unpaid labor. City Prosecutor Lloyd Nix, acting for Jim Thorpe, famous Indian athlete, filed a complaint charging theft of labor in connection with the $259 Pyle assertedly owes Thorpe for his part in the transcontinental derby.

In a complaint issued last Saturday, Paul Hickman, vaudeville actor, accused the promoter of failure to pay him $483 wages. Nix has announced his intention to prosecute the case against Pyle vigorously.

City Attorney Instructed To Make Request

Plans for Widening Flower Street Also Approved By Councilmen

OUTSTANDING items of business transacted by the city council at its meeting last night in the city hall included decisions to apply for 10,000 horsepower from Boulder dam, to widen and pave North Flower street between Santa Clara avenue and North Broadway park boulevard, adoption of ordinances fixing the city tax rate at $1.89 per $100 of assessed valuation, and creating the office of city purchasing agent and auditor and the first reading of an ordinance creating a city planning commission under the new state law providing for such bodies.

The motion providing for application for Boulder dam power came near the end of the session and was made by Councilman J. L. McBride. Action was taken after only a brief discussion. The motion authorizes City Attorney C. D. Swanner to apply to the secretary of the interior for 10,000 horsepower.

It is expected that this amount of power will take care of the city's needs for some time and in setting that amount it was kept in mind that Boulder dam will not be completed for a number of years so that the city, at the time the power becomes available, will be using a much larger amount than at present.

The council instructed City Engineer Clyde Jenken to prepare plans and specifications for widening North Flower street to 80 feet and for paving the thoroughfare between Santa Clara avenue and North Broadway park boulevard. The pavement will be in two strips, while in the center of the roadway will be a 16-foot bridge path.

Property Needed

The acquisition of 10 feet of property on either side of the present street will be necessary, Jenken pointed out. It is expected that this property must be condemned in order to secure the right-of-way.

Final reading was given to the ordinance fixing the city tax rate at $1.89 and the ordinance was

SELECT JURY IN L. A. TORSO MURDER

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 27.—(UP)—Dr. Frank P. Westlake, 57-year-old retired physician charged with the "torso" murder of Mrs. Laura B. Sutton, was scheduled to begin his legal fight for his life today.

The state listed for witnesses Ramon Manriquez, 8-year-old boy, who found the assertedly dismembered body of Mrs. Sutton in Los Angeles river, and Floyd Waterstreet, 14, who found the skull a month later.

A jury of nine women and three men was selected at yesterday's session of the superior court to try the physician. The state was trying to place more men in the jury box.

Plan Revision Of Salaries Paid To Traffic Officers

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 27.—(UP)—Revision of salaries paid traffic officers in California, which now range from $150 to $200 a month, will be an immediate order of business in the state bureau of traffic patrol, it was announced here by Eugene Biscalluz, new superintendent.

The new motor vehicle act has placed all traffic patrolmen under state control. As a result, Biscalluz believes that salaries should be standardized so that all officers receive the same pay.

Two Japanese Cruisers On Way To Canal

SAN PEDRO, Aug. 27.—(UP)—The battle cruisers Asama and Iwate, carrying 1332 of Japan's sea fighters under the command of Vice Admiral Nomura, sailed today for Balboa, Panama canal, where they will lay over one day before proceeding to Baltimore.

The two cruisers, carrying 232 midshipmen from the Imperial Japanese naval academy, ended their five days of entertainment at Los Angeles as Admiral Nomura and his party helped to cheer the dirigible Graf Zeppelin on her way early this morning.

Yesterday the flagship Asama was in gala array as hundreds of American guests took advantage of Admiral Nomura's "fat home" and paid their respects to Los Angeles harbor.

HENRY JESSEN OF SANTA ANA GREET'S PILOT

Shakes Hands with Eckener at Ambassador and Delivers Message

WHAT WAS probably one of the greatest moments in the life of Henry Jessen of Santa Ana, was the moment when from the heights of Lookout mountain in Hollywood, he saw the Graf Zeppelin appear as a speck over the wide waters of the Pacific ocean, gradually growing larger until it became a great floating shape silvered with moonlight, for Jessen knew that within a short time he would be shaking the hand of Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the pioneer air liner.

Through arrangements made by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce and the German consul at

DR. JORDAN SHOWS SIGNS OF WEAKENING

PALO ALTO, Aug. 27.—(UP)—No improvement in the condition of Dr. David Starr Jordan, 78, chancellor emeritus of the Stanford university, was reported early today by Dr. Russell Lee.

"He seems to be apathetic and shows signs of weakening generally expected with old age. Nothing imminent is anticipated at present," the doctor said.

Dr. Jordan has been confined to his bed since June 3. Since first taken ill he has gradually lost the use of his lower limbs.

HEAD WINDS CUT SPEED OF AIRSHIP

Eckener Reports Making But 55 Miles An Hour Over Desert This Noon

NOW ON FINAL LAP

Big Air Liner Narrowly Escapes Disaster As It Hops From Mines Field

TUCSON, Ariz., Aug. 27.—(UP)—The Graf Zeppelin was bucking adverse headwinds in this section of Arizona as the great airship continued its eastern flight to Lakehurst, N. J.

At Vail, 20 miles east here, the Graf struck winds which materially lowered the speed of the craft. At Benson, 50 miles further on, the winds died down but were reported active in the vicinity of Bowie, 60 miles from Benson.

The Zeppelin was forging over the desert country at about 55 miles an hour. Commander Hugo Eckener was holding to an altitude of about 1,000 feet.

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 27.—(UP)—The German Graf Zeppelin missed disaster by just a few feet here today as it started a conquest of the North American continent, the final lap of its race around the world against time.

The great dirigible, victorious over the storms of the Atlantic and Pacific oceans and the hazards of Europe and Asia, almost met ruin in the network of high tension wires which surround Mines field.

The Graf, taking off at 3:15 a. m. eastern standard time for Lakehurst, N. J., where only 20 days ago it began its 20,000 mile flight around the globe, failed to gain altitude as quickly as anticipated and only the skill of its commander, Dr. Hugo Eckener, took it out of the most serious situation encountered on its tour.

The crowd of 125,000 at the airport, sensing the predicament, cheered mightily as the giant bag, with its tail dragging slightly successfully cleared the wires.

Dirigible experts at the field expressed the opinion that a strata of cold air was responsible for the situation that accompanied the take off.

As explained by the experts, Dr. Eckener evidently intended to permit the gas in his craft to lift it to a sufficient height to clear the wires.

But something, probably a cold draught, held the Graf lower to the ground, with the tail almost touching. As the motors took hold, the Graf's tail still was low.

Although he was expected to remain here much longer, Dr. Eckener

DREADNAUGHTS TO ARRIVE SATURDAY

SAN PEDRO, Aug. 27.—(UP)—Five dreadnaughts of the Pacific battle fleet, which left San Francisco yesterday, were scheduled to hold tactical exercises at sea before steaming into their home port here Saturday.

The airplane carriers Lexington and Saratoga are expected to put 20 planes in the air over San Diego as they close their three weeks of gunnery practice there Friday.

The dreadnaughts will be here until they leave for the north Atlantic next February.

strategical points and many British warships, travelling at top speed, were rushing to the port city with new troops and marines.

Reports reaching here said that several districts hitherto unaffected by the riotous outbreaks had become inflamed. Martial law has been proclaimed in Tel-Aviv and a strict censorship has been established in many points in Palestine. For the most part the Arabs were using clubs, knives and bludgeons in their attacks upon the Jews. The defending forces used rifles and were backed by machine guns. The extent of the casualties suffered by the Moslems was unknown, but were probably heavier than those suffered by the Jews. The Oxford students who are studying here have been extremely helpful in repelling attacks.

British travelers returning from Nablus, Haifa and other points reported today that Moslems were stopping all automobiles along the roads and searching them for Jews. The authorities issued orders prohibiting the carrying of any sort of weapons.

TEL-AVIV, Palestine, Aug. 26.—(UP)—(Delayed)—One Jew was killed and 20 injured in an Arab attack on the settlement of Bethel-nah, on the Esdraelon plain, a dispatch from Haifa said today. In the fighting at Hebron, 80 Jews were reported killed and 40 wounded.

BERLIN, Aug. 27.—(UP)—The Jerusalem correspondent of the Berlin Zeitung Am Mittag reported today that Arabs at Motza had burned seven Jews to death, mutilated women and tortured men. The Christians at Motza it was reported, have marked their houses with a blue cross.

er took off only 18 hours after his ship completed the first air passenger crossing from Tokyo to the United States.

His decision to continue quickly was based on a desire to better the present record of 23 days for a round the world trip. The mark was established in 1923 by John Penry Mears and the late Capt. C. B. D. Collyer.

A slight ground fog covered the field as the dirigible was cut loose from its mooring mast. It was clear overhead, however, and the weather bureau announced good weather conditions over the entire route.

Local thunderstorms in Arizona, which for a time were considered as a possible hindrance to the flight, cleared up before take off time.

The route which Dr. Eckener expected to follow for the first nine hours of the 2600 mile flight to Lakehurst was by way of India, Calif., Yuma and Tucson, Ariz., and El Paso, Texas.

From El Paso on east, he said, the route would be selected according to weather bureau forecasts.

After leaving here, the Graf proceeded down the coast line. It was first reported sighted at San Diego at 5:29 eastern standard time.

Subsequently the Southern Pacific station agent at Jacumba notified the division office here that the dirigible passed to the south of that place at 6:13 a. m.

The position of the Graf as described by the Jacumba agent placed it across the international border line in Mexico.

Senator N. T. Edwards and Ted Craig, assemblyman, together with the county supervisors, Willard Smith, George Jeffrey, Charles H. Chapman, W. M. Schumacher and W. T. Mitchell.

Following the addresses will be a feature event on the main stage, where the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. will present a series of athletic feats, beginning at 8:30. Every possible attraction has been planned for the six days of the fair's duration, according to H. A. Lake, president of the Orange County Fair association. When reached today at his residence in Garden Grove, Lake verified the program as it had been given tentatively, declared that the sole changes were to add more entertainment.

One of the biggest features, booked at the eleventh hour, he declared to be the lion farm, with 25 monarchs of the jungle to be brought from the Gobel Lion farm at Ventura. The king of the display will be a huge beast 27 years old. This feature will be present for the duration of the fair, sharing interest with the trained animal acts, the comedy features, Indian village, midway carnival, rodeo and horse shows which are some of the attractions booked.

Following tomorrow's opening, Friday, Saturday and Monday afternoons will present the rodeo, always one of the most popular drawing cards of the fair. Racing and comedy features will mark these three afternoons as well.

Legion Day Sunday as American Legion day will offer a quieter program but one of marked interest. The Santa Ana American Legion Auxiliary Glee club will sing under the direction of Cecil Fross Willis and the afternoon will also offer a live-stock parade and the comedy features of earlier programs. At night the American Legion drum corps contest promises additional entertainment.

The labor day program will be confined principally to the rodeo, although like prior afternoons there will be unlimited free entertainment on the main stage, in the Indian village and at the trained animal show.

Such features are only a small part of what the fair will have to offer, however. Of outstanding interest to an agricultural community such as Orange county, will be the display of rare fruits, which, native to the tropics and sub-tropics, yet have found a congenial atmosphere in the sun-swept valleys and hill-sides of the county. Under the direction of Harold Wahlberg, Orange county farm advisor, a special feature booth will be arranged to show each variety in a setting as nearly like its native home as possible. Included will be the avocado, guava, sapota, papaya, jujube, banana, kiwi apple, and many others equally unusual and interesting as showing the possibilities of local culture.

An invitation has been extended to anyone in the county growing rare sub-tropical fruits, to enter specimens in this department. Such specimens may be delivered either to the farm advisor's office, 606 North Main street, Santa Ana, or directly to the fair grounds, but must be in at once in order to insure place.

Keep Road Open Following the assurance given yesterday by the state highway department, that the road from Flower street, Santa Ana, east of the state highway bridge would be kept open in order to route traffic away from North Main street and its turn-out condition and facilitate access to the grounds, was the announcement made today of a much lower fare on Motor Transit busses which will make stated runs to the grounds. Special permission for this reduced fare has been granted by the State Railroad commission, according to A. M. Thomas, local manager for the stage line.

This excursion rate will be 20 cents for the round trip, with the busses running directly to the main entrance. In addition to the lower fare, a reduced admission ticket has been arranged with the fair officials, which, when purchased in conjunction with the bus ticket, makes a total of round trip and admission to the grounds of 55 cents. Bus service will be direct from the Motor Transit office at Third and Spurgeon streets, every 22 minutes, and the reduced bus fare and admission will be obtainable only at the bus office and not on the busses themselves, according to Thomas.

Fair patrons outside of Santa Ana will find the grounds equally easy of access. From Tustin and points on the coast from which the San Diego boulevard would be the logical road, the traffic will be routed by Flower street or by North Grand avenue outside Santa Ana, around the Orange plaza and directly west to the grounds. Villa Park residents may go by Orange or Olive, in the latter case via Placentia boulevard which will serve Placentia, Brea and their communities. Garden Grove residents and those to the south and west, will pass through Garden Grove and then north one mile to the county hospital highway which intersects the boulevard directly across from the grounds.

Equity Expected To Take Action on Barrymore 'Revolt'

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—There were indications here today that the Actors' Equity association might take action on the "revolt" of Ethel Barrymore against the rule of Frank Gillmore, president. The controversy between Miss Barrymore and Gillmore began on the west coast when the association president made an unsuccessful attempt to impose Equity rules upon the motion picture industry.

adopted without protest. Similar action was taken with the ordinance creating the office of city purchasing agent and auditor, which will become effective on September 1. It is expected that, in the office of auditor, will be created a consulting department, where residents will place all complaints, and from which they will be distributed to the proper departments.

The ordinance creating a city planning commission, under the new state law requiring such a body, was referred to City Attorney Swanner for checking before action was taken. The body would have nine members, six of whom would be appointed by the mayor. One member would be the city engineer or surveyor. The two other members would be selected by the city council and might include one councilman. Two of the first six members would serve for one year, two for two years, one for three years and one for four years.

Jenken also was instructed to draw plans and specifications for paving Heliotrope drive between Seventeenth and Nineteenth streets, and Nineteenth street from Greenleaf street to Flower street. A resolution of intention for the opening of Richland street from Shelton to Flower street was adopted. There being no protests, an application for rezoning Cypress avenue in the 700 block, changing it from a residence to an apartment house district, was granted.

The city clerk and the mayor were authorized to sign a map for a sub-division in the southwest part of city between Bristol street, Baker street, Edinger street and the city limits. A petition for installation of curbs in Country Club Gardens, an area lying between South Van Ness and South Main street, was filed.

Fair Given $1000 Duplicating an amount provided last year, the council voted to appropriate $1000 as the city's contribution to the success of the Orange County fair. The clerk was authorized to draw a warrant for $259.79 in favor of the chamber of commerce, for advertising. A warrant also was authorized for the Orange County Firemen's association, in the sum of $100. An ordinance was read giving the clerk and auditor authority to make up city payrolls.

A letter was received from C. J. Segerstrom, thanking the city and the fire department for assistance rendered at a recent fire in Greenville on the Segerstrom property. The council filed a letter inviting the body to attend the second annual meeting of the California Sewage Work association at Oakland, on October 7.

Two warranty deeds from Mr. and Mrs. William Sackman were ordered to be held pending final payment of $6500 for the property, which was ordered made. The property is on West Eighth street between Olive and Flower streets and is expected to form a portion of a playground. A grant deed from Herbert Gruenwald and Mrs. Gruenwald, for street purposes, was accepted.

The council decided to reject all bids on fire hose, recently received, and to return checks to bidders.

The Rev. A. R. Rutledge appeared to request the right to hold evangelistic services in a portable tent at Delhi. The request was granted.

The Arnett Malted Milk shop was given permission to erect an electric sign at its place of business near the Fox West Coast theater, under supervision of the city electrician.

The Star Taxi service was authorized to operate a stand at Third and Spurgeon streets. The council adopted a ruling permitting the erection of one-story school buildings.

Fire Chief John Luxembourg called attention of the council to the need for replacing solid rubber tires on engine No. 2 with pneumatic tires. The council authorized the change, which it is estimated will cost approximately $900.

Los Angeles, Jessen met Eckener at the Ambassador hotel and delivered a congratulatory message from the commander's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Maas, of Flensburg, Germany. Jessen's brother, Albert Jessen, is a friend and next door neighbor of the commander and the Maas family in the German city. During the few days before the arrival of the Zeppelin, Jessen has been a guest in the home of his daughter, Mrs. George H. Dickson, 732 1-2 Heliotrope drive, Los Angeles. The delivery of the letter by a personal messenger and a native of his own country must have warmed the heart of the intrepid commander and it is unlikely if Jessen in turn ever received the thrill in his own many trips around the world to equal the one when he met the man who conducted the first air liner around the globe.

California Cities Expected To Enjoy Lower Power Rates

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 27.—(UP)—Electric power and light consumers in at least a dozen northern California cities are expected to obtain a substantial reduction in rates as the result of a new investigation ordered by the state railroad commission into the entire structure of the P. G. & E. and the Great Western Power company.

After the commission had ruled that seven per cent was a fair return on an investment it was shown in reports submitted to the board at the hearing here that the Great Western's net return in 1928 was 9.1 per cent and that of the P. G. & E. for 1928 was 8.08 per cent.

FEDERAL FARM BOARD HEAD IS SOCIAL "DUD"

signed up with Al Capone, so you can put me down wherever this rates me."

"The fellow had hung up before I finished," Legge laughed. "We farmers are busy and we don't hanker after any social functioning. I've read the agricultural marketing act through 20 times or more and I don't find any requirement that we farmers have social obligations."

"We don't want to go to any select dinners, but if we have to, and have to put on fried shirts and such, then all I want to say is this: "We respectfully ask that we be given places in the kitchen, and as I said before, if that interferes, we want to wait for the second table."

Keep Road Open Following the assurance given yesterday by the state highway department, that the road from Flower street, Santa Ana, east of the state highway bridge would be kept open in order to route traffic away from North Main street and its turn-out condition and facilitate access to the grounds, was the announcement made today of a much lower fare on Motor Transit busses which will make stated runs to the grounds. Special permission for this reduced fare has been granted by the State Railroad commission, according to A. M. Thomas, local manager for the stage line.

This excursion rate will be 20 cents for the round trip, with the busses running directly to the main entrance. In addition to the lower fare, a reduced admission ticket has been arranged with the fair officials, which, when purchased in conjunction with the bus ticket, makes a total of round trip and admission to the grounds of 55 cents. Bus service will be direct from the Motor Transit office at Third and Spurgeon streets, every 22 minutes, and the reduced bus fare and admission will be obtainable only at the bus office and not on the busses themselves, according to Thomas.

Fair patrons outside of Santa Ana will find the grounds equally easy of access. From Tustin and points on the coast from which the San Diego boulevard would be the logical road, the traffic will be routed by Flower street or by North Grand avenue outside Santa Ana, around the Orange plaza and directly west to the grounds. Villa Park residents may go by Orange or Olive, in the latter case via Placentia boulevard which will serve Placentia, Brea and their communities. Garden Grove residents and those to the south and west, will pass through Garden Grove and then north one mile to the county hospital highway which intersects the boulevard directly across from the grounds.

EVERY DETAIL of its design makes for EASIEST CLEANING

SPOTLESS, gleaming white—the General Electric Refrigerator looks its part—guardian of the family food... and the family health. And, because of its special design, it is as sanitary and clean as it looks.

All the inside corners of the cabinet are rounded. You know how easy that makes cleaning. No spilled food can hide in corners or seep into crevices. A damp cloth leaves the whole lining of the cabinet absolutely spotless. And the chilling chamber is so designed that you can easily clean all around it. Housewives who pride themselves on being "fussy" have commented favorably on this fact. And they like having the cabinet up on legs, for that gives them plenty of broom-room underneath.

Because the entire mechanism of the General Electric is hermetically sealed in a steel casing, it is dust-proof and safe from the difficulties which dust can so easily cause. You should examine this most modern of all refrigerators—study the new all-steel cabinet, the many improvements. As evidence of guarantee reliability, there are more than 300,000 users and not one has spent a single dollar for repairs! And find out about the conveniently spaced payments on which any of the models can be bought.

Tune in on the General Electric Hour broadcast every Saturday evening 8 to 9 Eastern Standard Time over the N. B. C. network of 42 stations.

Associated Oil Company Seeks Tax Refund Of $7923

The Weather

For Los Angeles and vicinity—Fair tonight and Wednesday with moderate temperature. Gentle westerly winds.

For Southern California—Fair tonight and Wednesday; not so warm in east portion tonight; gentle westerly winds on coast. Fire weather forecast: Fair weather with no change in temperature or humidity; gentle variable winds, mostly southerly at high altitudes.

San Francisco Bay, Region—Fair and mild tonight and Wednesday; moderate westerly winds.

Northern California—Fair tonight and Wednesday; becoming unsettled on the extreme north coast; moderate temperature; general to moderate variable winds on the coast.

CLAIM MISTAKE PLACED OUTPUT FAR TOO HIGH

Officials of the Associated Oil company were embarrassed today, somewhat financially, but mostly otherwise. Any taxpayer of Orange county can appreciate the feelings of these officials when they discovered that they had reported the oil production of their Anaheim lease at a figure which was $80,000 barrels too high for the year of 1928-1929.

And the report of this booming production was made to County Assessor James Sleeper. Furthermore the taxes on this production, assessed at $291,657, have been paid. The oil company claims to be financially embarrassed to the extent of $7923.57, which it is seeking to have refunded today in a hearing before the board of supervisors.

WOMEN COME INTO OWN AS JURORS IN ORANGE COUNTY; EIGHT IN BOX IN RUM CASE

Women have come into their own—at least in Orange county courts—it appeared today, when for the second time in two weeks, a jury composed of eight women and four men was sworn in.

Last week William R. McGee, Los Angeles, charged with perjury, was tried by a jury composed of eight women and four men. The jury disagreed. But it was rumored that it was a man who refused to change his vote.

Today J. R. Sullivan, charged with driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, was being tried in Superior Judge James L. Allen's court. Sullivan is alleged to have committed the offense on July 13, on West Commonwealth avenue, Fullerton, where he is asserted to have been in an automobile accident.

The prosecution, handled by Chief Deputy District Attorney L. W. Blodget, placed on the stand, as its first witness, J. C. Gregory, Fullerton police officer, who testified that he had been at the scene of the accident shortly after it occurred; that he had seen Sullivan at that time and that he believed the defendant was under the influence of liquor. R. E. Haynes, defense counsel, gave Gregory a close questioning regarding the position in which we found the cars involved in the accident.

HARBOR SCHOOL PETITIONS NOT FILED AT NOON

County Superintendent of Schools R. P. Mitchell had not received the harbor high school petitions at noon today. The petitions, asking Mitchell to call an election, at which coast voters can decide whether to separate from the Santa Ana high school district, probably will be filed late today or tomorrow, according to information from Newport Beach.

It was estimated today that signatures of about 75 per cent of the heads of families in the region have been placed on the documents. A majority is necessary, according to the law, to enable Mitchell to call the election.

Through bitter defeat and shameful denial of his allegiance he learned dependence upon God for power to be true; then he became unconquerable. You have discovered the mistakes in your complacency and self-sufficiency. Take the next step; open your heart that God may give you courage and endurance and you, too, shall triumph and be glad.

The business consists chiefly of an apartment house, near Broadway and Buffalo, in this city, and nearby ranch property. The headquarters of the concern were moved to Santa Ana because of the fact that the main business activity of the firm is located here.

strategic points and many British warships, travelling at top speed, were rushing to the port city with new troops and marines.

Reports reaching here said that several districts hitherto unaffected by the riotous outbreaks had become inflamed. Martial law has been proclaimed in Tel-Aviv and a strict censorship has been established in many points in Palestine.

For the most part the Arabs were using clubs, knives and bludgeons in their attacks upon the Jews. The defending forces used rifles and were backed by machine guns. The extent of the casualties suffered by the Moslems was unknown, but were probably heavier than those suffered by the Jews. The Oxford students who are studying here have been extremely helpful in repelling attacks.

British travelers returning from Nablus, Haifa and other points reported today that Moslems were stopping all automobiles along the roads and searching them for Jews. The authorities issued orders prohibiting the carrying of any sort of weapons.

TEL-AVIV, Palestine, Aug. 26.—(UP)—(Delayed)—One Jew was killed and 20 injured in an Arab attack on the settlement of Bethelphar, on the Esdraelon plain, a dispatch from Haifa said today.

In the fighting at Hebron, 80 Jews were reported killed and 40 wounded.

BERLIN, Aug. 27.—(UP)—The Jerusalem correspondent of the Berlin Zeitung Am Mittag reported today that Arabs at Motza had burned seven Jews to death, mutilated women and tortured men. The Christians at Motza it was reported, have marked their houses with a blue cross.

er took off only 18 hours after his ship completed the first air passenger crossing from Tokyo to the United States.

This decision to continue quickly was based on a desire to better the present record of 23 days for a round the world trip. The mark was established in 1925 by John Penry Mears and the late Capt. C. B. D. Collyer.

A slight ground fog covered the field as the dirigible was cut loose from its mooring mast. It was clear overhead, however, and the weather bureau announced good weather conditions over the entire route.

Local thunderstorms in Arizona, which for a time were considered as a possible hindrance to the flight, cleared up before take off time.

The route which Dr. Eckener expected to follow for the first nine hours of the 2600 mile flight to Lakehurst was by way of Indio, Calif., Yuma and Tucson, Ariz., and El Paso, Texas.

From El Paso on east, he said, the route would be selected according to weather bureau forecasts.

After leaving here, the Graf proceeded down the coast line. It was first reported sighted at San Diego at 5:29 eastern standard time.

Subsequently the Southern Pacific station agent at Jacumba notified the division office here that the dirigible passed to the south of that place at 6:12 a. m.

The position of the Graf as described by the Jacumba agent placed it across the international border line in Mexico.

"The fellow had hung up before I finished," Leggo laughed.

"We farmers are busy and we don't hanker after any social functioning. I've read the agricultural marketing act through 20 times or more and I don't find any requirement that we farmers have social obligations."

"We don't want to go to any select dinners, but if we have to, and have to put on fried shirts and such, then all I want to say is this: We respectfully ask that we be given places in the kitchen, and as I said before, if that interferes, we want to wait for the second table."

Senator N. T. Edwards and Ted Craig, assemblyman, together with the county supervisors, Willard Smith, George Jeffrey, Charles H. Chapman, W. M. Schumacher and W. T. Mitchell.

Following the addresses will be a feature event on the main stage, where the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. will present a series of athletic feats, beginning at 8:30. Every possible attraction has been planned for the six days of the fair's duration, according to H. A. Lake, president of the Orange County Fair association. When reached today at his residence in Garden Grove, Lake verified the program as it had been given tentatively, declared that the sole changes were to add more entertainment.

One of the biggest features, booked at the eleventh hour, he declared to be the lion farm, with 25 monarchs of the jungle to be brought from the Goshute Lion farm at Ventura. The king of the display will be a huge beast 27 years old. This feature will be present for the duration of the fair, sharing interest with the trained animal acts, the comedy features, Indian village, midway carnival, rodeo and horse shows which are some of the attractions booked.

Following tomorrow's opening, Friday, Saturday and Monday afternoons will present the rodeo, always one of the most popular drawing cards of the fair. Racing and comedy features will mark these three afternoons as well.

Legion Day

Sunday as American Legion day will offer a quieter program but one of marked interest. The Santa Ana American Legion Auxiliary Glee club will sing under the direction of Cecil Fross Willis and the afternoon will also offer a livestock parade and the comedy features of earlier programs. At night the American Legion drum corps contest promises additional entertainment.

The Labor day program will be confined principally to the rodeo, although like previous afternoons there will be unlimited free entertainment on the main stage, in the Indian village and at the trained animal show.

Such features are only a small part of what the fair will have to offer, however. Of outstanding interest to an agricultural community such as Orange county, will be the display of rare fruits, which, native to the tropics and subtropics, yet have found a congenial atmosphere in the sun-swept valleys and hillsides of the county. Under the direction of Harold Walters, Orange county farm advisor, a special feature booth will be arranged to show each variety in a setting as nearly like its native home as possible. Included will be the avocado, guava, sapota, papaya, jujube, banana, red apple, and many others equally unusual and interesting as showing the possibilities of local culture.

An invitation has been extended to anyone in the county growing rare sub-tropical fruits to enter specimens in this department. Such specimens may be delivered either to the farm advisor's office, 606 North Main street, Santa Ana, or directly to the fair grounds, but must be in at once in order to insure place.

Keep Road Open

Following the assurance given yesterday by the state highway department, that the road from Flower street, Santa Ana, east of the state highway bridge would be kept open in order to route traffic away from North Main street and its torn-up condition and facilitate easy access to the grounds, was the announcement made today of a much lower fare on Motor Transit busses which will make steady runs to the grounds. Special permission for this reduced fare has been granted by the State Railroad commission, according to A. M. Thomas, local manager for the stage line.

This excursion rate will be 20 cents for the round trip, with the busses running directly to the main entrance. In addition to the lower fare, a reduced admission ticket has been arranged with the fair officials, which, when purchased in conjunction with the bus ticket, makes a total of round trip and admission to the grounds of 55 cents. Bus service will be direct from the Motor Transit office at Third and Spurgeon streets, every 22 minutes, and the reduced bus fare and admission will be obtainable only at the bus office and not on the busses themselves, according to Thomas.

Fair patrons outside of Santa Ana will find the grounds equally easy of access. From Tustin and points on the coast from which the San Diego boulevard would be the logical road, the traffic will be routed by Flower street or by North Grand avenue outside Santa Ana, around the Orange plaza and directly west to the grounds. Villa Park residents may go by Orange or Olive, in the latter case via Placentia boulevard which will serve Placentia, Brea and their communities. Garden Grove residents and those to the south and west, will pass through Garden Grove and then north one mile to the county hospital highway which intersects the boulevard directly across from the grounds.

Equity Expected To Take Action on Barrymore 'Revolt'

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—There were indications here today that the Actors' Equity association might take action on the "revolt" of Ethel Barrymore against the rule of Frank Gillmore, president. The controversy between Miss Barrymore and Gillmore began on the west coast when the association president made an unsuccessful attempt to impose Equity rules upon the motion picture industry.

adopted without protest. Similar action was taken with the ordinance creating the office of city purchasing agent and auditor, which will become effective on September 1. It is expected that, in the office of auditor, will be created a complaint department, where residents will place all complaints, and from which they will be distributed to the proper departments.

The ordinance creating a city planning commission, under the new state law requiring such a body, was referred to City Attorney Swanner for checking before action was taken. The body would have nine members, six of whom would be appointed by the mayor. One member would be the city engineer or surveyor. The two other members would be selected by the city council and might include one councilman. Two of the first six members would serve for one year, two for two years, one for three years and one for four years.

Jenken also was instructed to draw plans and specifications for paving Hellotrope drive between Seventeenth and Nineteenth streets, from Greenleaf street to Flower street. A resolution of intention for the opening of Richland street from Shelton to Flower street was adopted. There being no protests, an application for rezoning Cypress avenue in the 700 block, changing it from a residence to an apartment house district, was granted.

The city clerk and the mayor were authorized to sign a map for a sub-division in the southwest part of the city between Bristol street, Baker street, Edinger street and the city limits. A petition for installation of curbs in Country Club Gardens, an area lying between South Van Ness and South Main street, was filed.

Fair Given $1000

Duplicating an amount provided last year, the council voted to appropriate $1000 as the city's contribution to the success of the Orange County fair. The clerk was authorized to draw a warrant for $259.79 in favor of the chamber of commerce, for advertising. A warrant also was authorized for the Orange County Firemen's association, in the sum of $100.

An ordinance was read giving the clerk and auditor authority to make up city payrolls.

A letter was received from C. J. Segerstrom, thanking the city and the fire department for assistance rendered at a recent fire in Greenville on the Segerstrom property. The council filed a letter inviting the body to attend the second annual meeting of the California Sewage Work association at Oakland, on October 7.

Two warrants were made from Mr. and Mrs. William Sackman were ordered to be held pending final payment of $9500 for the property, which was ordered made. The property is on West Eighth street between Olive and Flower streets and is expected to form a portion of a playground. A grant deed from Herbert Gruenwald and Mrs. Gruenwald, for street purposes, was accepted.

The council decided to reject all bids on fire hose, recently received, and to return checks to bidders.

The Rev. A. R. Rutledge appeared to request the right to hold evangelistic services in a portable tent at Delhi. The request was granted.

The Ancient Malted Milk shop was given permission to erect an electric sign at its place of business near the Fox West Coast theater, under supervision of the city electrician.

The Star Taxi service was authorized to operate a stand at Third and Spurgeon streets.

The council adopted a ruling permitting the erection of one-story school buildings.

Fire Chief John Luxembourg called attention of the council to the need for replacing solid rubber tires on engine No. 2 with pneumatic tires. The council authorized the change, which it is estimated will cost approximately $800.

Los Angeles, Aug. 27.—The Ambassador hotel and delivered a congratulatory message from the commander's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Maas, of Flensburg, Germany. Jessen's brother, Albert Jessen, is a friend and next door neighbor of the commander and the Maas family in the German city. During the few days before the arrival of the Zeppelin, Jessen has been a guest in the home of his daughter, Mrs. George H. Dickson, 732 1-2 Hellotrope drive, Los Angeles. The delivery of the letter by a personal messenger and a native of his own country must have warmed the heart of the intrepid commander and it is unlikely if Jessen in turn ever received the thrill in his own many trips around the world to equal the one when he met the man who conducted the first air liner around the globe.

California Cities Expected To Enjoy Lower Power Rates

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 27.—

(UP)—Electric power and light consumers in at least a dozen northern California cities are expected to obtain a substantial reduction in rates as the result of a new investigation ordered by the state railroad commission into the entire structure of the P. G. & E. and the Great Western Power company.

After the commission had ruled that seven per cent was a fair return on an investment it was shown in reports submitted to the board at the hearing here that the Great Western's net return in 1923 was 9.1 per cent and that of the P. G. & E. for 1923 was 8.08 per cent.

EVERY DETAIL of its design makes for EASIEST CLEANING

SPOTLESS, gleaming white—the General Electric Refrigerator looks its part—guardian of the family food . . . and the family health. And, because of its special design, it is as sanitary and clean as it looks.

All the inside corners of the cabinet are rounded. You know how easy that makes cleaning. No spilled food can hide in corners or seep into crevices. A damp cloth leaves the whole lining of the cabinet absolutely spotless. And the chilling chamber is so designed that you can easily clean all around it. Housewives who pride themselves on being "fussy" have commented favorably on this fact. And they like having the cabinet up on legs, for that gives them plenty of broom-room underneath.

Because the entire mechanism of the General Electric is hermetically sealed in a steel casing, it is dust-proof and safe from the difficulties which dust can so easily cause.

You should examine this most modern of all refrigerators—study the new all-steel cabinet, the many improvements. As evidence of guarantee reliability, there are more than 300,000 users and not one has spent a single dollar for repairs! And find out about the conveniently spaced payments on which any of the models can be bought.

Let Us Demonstrate These Fourteen Superiorities

- ... a hermetically sealed, dust-proof mechanism.
- ... a simple freezing regulator.
- ... a mechanism that requires no oiling.
- ... all troublesome machinery eliminated.
- ... a new standard of quiet operation.
- ... mounted on legs with broom-room underneath.
- ... no installation problem whatever.
- ... a sanitary, porcelain chilling chamber.
- ... the entire mechanism mounted on top.
- ... maximum food storage space in the cabinet.
- ... an appreciably lower cost of operation.
- ... a radically improved type of cabinet.
- ... absolutely no radio interference.
- ... an unqualified two-year guarantee.

A WORD OF COMFORT
Simon Peter was over-confident of his own strength and courage. Through bitter defeat and shameful denial of his allegiance he learned dependence upon God for power to be true; then he became unquarable.

You have discovered the mistakes in your complacency and self-sufficiency. Take the next step; open your heart that God may give you courage and endurance and you, too, shall triumph and be glad.

CLAIM MISTAKE PLACED OUTPUT FAR TOO HIGH

Officials of the Associated Oil company were embarrassed today, somewhat financially, but mostly otherwise. Any taxpayer of Orange county can appreciate the feelings of these officials when they discovered that they had reported the oil production of their Anaheim lease at a figure which was $80,000 barrels too high for the year of 1928-1929.

And the report of this booming production was made to County Assessor James Sleeper. Furthermore the taxes on this production, assessed at $231,657, have been paid. The oil company claims to be financially embarrassed to the extent of $7923.57, which it is seeking to have refunded today in a hearing before the board of supervisors.

This situation struck the supervisors as rather unusual, in fact so much so that they conferred in their committee room. W. S. Badger, tax attorney for the Associated Oil company, admitted that it was unusual. In fact he declared that it was a very unusual situation.

He stated that the error was entirely his own. At noon today the board had not decided what to do in regard to the request of the oil company.

Badger stated that the error was not discovered in the production reports because these were correct. The mistake was made in his own office, he said, in computations being done there when the figures were being gone over. The mistake was discovered some time last May, he said.

The period for which the error was made was from March, 1927, to February, 1928, Badger said, pointing out that he had communicated with Sleeper about the mistake last June.

WOMEN COME INTO OWN AS JURORS IN ORANGE COUNTY; EIGHT IN BOX IN RUM CASE

Women have come into their own—at least in Orange county courts—it appeared today, when for the second time in two weeks, a jury composed of eight women and four men was sworn in.

Last week William R. McGee, Los Angeles, charged with perjury, was tried by a jury composed of eight women and four men. The jury disagreed. But it was rumored that it was a man who refused to change his vote.

Today J. R. Sullivan, charged with driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, was being tried in Superior Judge James L. Allen's court. Sullivan is alleged to have committed the offense on July 13, on West Commonwealth avenue, Fullerton, where he is asserted to have been in an automobile accident.

The prosecution, handled by Chief Deputy District Attorney L. W. Blodgett, placed on the stand, as its first witness, J. C. Gregory, Fullerton police officer, who testified that he had been at the scene of the accident shortly after it occurred; that he had seen Sullivan at that time and that he believed the defendant was under the influence of liquor. R. E. Haynes, defense counsel, gave Gregory a close questioning regarding the position in which we found the cars involved in the accident.

Fail To Identify Man Killed When Hit By P. E. Car

The body of the shabbily dressed and starved man struck by a Pacific Electric car, near Huntington Beach, Saturday night, remained unidentified today, although county officers have been endeavoring since the tragedy, to ascertain his name and address.

At a coroner's inquest in the Dixon Funeral parlors, in Huntington Beach, this morning, a verdict of accidental death was returned by the jury.

The body will be buried in the Huntington Beach cemetery, with the Pacific Electric company paying the funeral expenses.

The offices of the firm were moved to 211 West Buffalo avenue about one month ago.

The business consists chiefly of an apartment house, near Broadway and Buffalo, in this city, and nearby ranch property. The headquarters of the concern were moved to Santa Ana because of the fact that the main business activity of the firm is located here.

HARBOR SCHOOL PETITIONS NOT FILED AT NOON

County Superintendent of Schools R. P. Mitchell had not received the harbor high school petitions at noon today. The petitions, asking Mitchell to call an election, at which coast voters can decide whether to separate from the Santa Ana high school district, probably will be filed late today or tomorrow, according to information from Newport Beach.

It was estimated today that signatures of about 75 per cent of the heads of families in the region have been placed on the documents. A majority is necessary, according to the law, to enable Mitchell to call the election.

If Mitchell finds that a majority has signed, under the new school law he will call an election within 20 days, at which election the voters of the area, which will include the Newport Beach and Costa Mesa elementary school districts, will decide whether they desire a high school district or not.

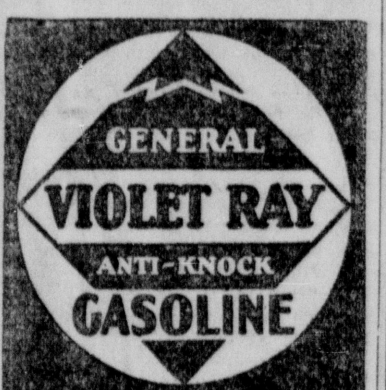

Petitions have been circulated by Lloyd Claire, John Summers, M. Simberg, Hal Will Smith, G. W. Kitzmiller, Conrad Shook, John Meurs, Harry D. Hyde, C. E. Dickey and Howard Cloyes. Purpose of Small Ships to Demonstrate Feasibility Of Zeppelin Travel

Quite the most spectacular aeronautic activity around Los Angeles in recent years, declares R. M. Berg, Goodyear distributor in Orange county, has been the daily flights of the Goodyear airship, "Volunteer," which will appear in Orange county during the county fair, opening tomorrow.

"There is serious purpose behind these flights," as Goodyear built the "Volunteer" and others of its class primarily to demonstrate lighter-than-air craft and to carry this division of aeronautics to the public," Berg said.

"Some day, and that day is not far off, lines of commercial Zeppelin ships will be flying from continent to continent, carrying tons of mail, express and passengers."

Wise women—they know the thing by which men are greatly impressed is a well-groomed, exquisitely dainty hand—they know men are thrilled to hold a hand of velvet! No matter if you do hardest housework, gardening or office work, if your hands are hideously rough and red—one application of Howard's Buttermilk Cream makes them amazingly smooth, ravishingly lovely. Continued use gives you hands as beautiful as the rarest china—so well cared for with that white and captivatingly smooth skin.

Missing Boat Is Found In Police Garage At Beach

SEAL BEACH, Aug. 27.—"You certainly have service at the Seal Beach police station," said Mrs. George Buttress, occupant of a summer cottage on the bay. Mrs. Buttress called at police headquarters Monday afternoon and reported that her boat, a large rowboat or skiff, had been lost for 60 days. When she described the missing boat to the police she was informed it had been taken in the ocean near the shore line in June and was in storage at the police garage. It was delivered to her at once without charge, hence the compliment on the Seal Beach police service.

SARGON WORTH OVER $1,000 TO HER, SHE SAYS

"The best way to understand why so many people endorse Sargon is to take it. That's why I do, and frankly, I wouldn't take a thousand dollars for the health it brought me."

MRS. ALICE LA VAREDA

"I was in poor health for two years, due, I was told, to gall bladder trouble. Pains in my right side used to drive me almost distracted. Even simple foods would not digest for me and I suffered from splitting headaches and was constipated all the time. I was in a dreadful weakened and run-down condition when I decided to take the Sargon Treatment."

"It's simply amazing the way Sargon and Sargon Soft Mass Pills ended my troubles. I haven't had a trace of gall bladder trouble in weeks now and those terrible pains have gone entirely away. I eat just anything my appetite calls for and my digestion is perfect. Sargon Soft Mass Pills not only ended my constipation without any gripping or nausea, but the headaches have also stopped and my whole system feels toned up. My friends are all telling me how well I look and I can't resist telling them it is all due to Sargon."

The above statement was recently made by Mrs. Alice La Vareda, 95 Cervantes Boulevard, San Francisco.

Boat Hero Thanked By Civic Body

NEWPORT BEACH, Aug. 27.—Dick Edwards, who rescued the speedboat "Zephyr" when it got into trouble at the harbor entrance Sunday, will receive a letter of thanks and appreciation for his work from the Newport Harbor Chamber of Commerce.

Edwards threw out a rope to the "Zephyr" when its motor died close to big breakers at the entrance channel. Frank L. Smith, director of the chamber, who brought up the matter at yesterday's directors' meeting, said that Edwards probably saved some human lives and certainly saved the boat's occupants from a ducking.

Edwards, with Walton Hubbard, won the International Starboat race at Narragansett bay, R. I., in 1927, thereby bringing the 1928 starboat regatta to Newport harbor.

GREEN MURDER CASE COMES TO BROADWAY SOON

Van Dine Mystery Story Is Epic of Talking Screen

"The Greene Murder Case," probably the most mysterious of the famous mysteries written by S. S. Van Dine, and more sensational than "The Canary Murder Case," comes to the Fox-Broadway theater next Monday for four days.

Van Dine, who only started existing six years ago, when under that nom-de-plume he wrote his first murder mystery, has since that time written three others, including the "Canary Murder Case," "The Greene Murder Case," and "The Bishop Murder Case." He claims he will write just two more, one this year and one next year and then the Van Dine who has lived only six years will pass out of existence and the author will devote the remainder of his life writing books on cultural subjects.

Paramount gave to the moving picture world one of its greatest mysteries in "The Canary Murder Case," which was shown in Santa Ana several months ago. In giving "The Greene Murder Case" to the public, Paramount has created an even more gripping and exciting story.

The plot has to do with the strange killings which occur in the Greene family's household. An elder son, his younger brother and finally the mother are murdered.

William Powell, the detective in "The Canary Murder Case," again plays the part of Philo Vance and who again solves the mystery and puts an end to the fiendish murders.

Others in the cast are E. H. Caltvert, who played the part of the district attorney in the "Canary Murder Case" and who has the same role in this mystery; Florence Eldridge, Ulrich Haupt, Norman Drew, Morgan Farley, Mildred Golden and others.

Outstanding stars of the stage, screen and radio will be presented. Talent for the hour will be recruited from the motion picture stars and players at the Paramount studios in New York and Hollywood and from the musical features appearing in Public Theaters throughout the country.

MCLEAN IN NEW TALKIE COMEDY HERE FRIDAY

A fun filled film frolic, "Divorce Made Easy" is brought to the Fox-Broadway theater next Friday, Saturday and Sunday, featuring Douglas McLean, who gets mixed up in one mirthful tangle after another as the obliging young man who tries to help a recently married acquaintance to get a divorce.

Johnny Arthur as the friend, and Marie Provost as the bride, plot a compromise scene in which Doug is to pose as the co-respondent in order that the divorce may be effected and so that Johnny's wealthy aunt will be pleased and give him her money. It is all out-and-out farce, the kind of a plot that McLean is most at home in. He doesn't miss a chance to put over his inimitable pantomime, while Marie Provost and Johnny Arthur also provide acting of great merit. The picture is an all-talking Paramount feature, with a rapid fire dialogue throughout.

WHITTIER TAKES OPENER FROM SANTA ANA Portland Beavers Sensation Of Coast League Race

CLUB THAT DID TRAINING HERE IS FIRST NOW

The tide in the affairs of men that William Shakespeare wrote about appears to have been taken at the flood by the Portland baseball club of the Pacific Coast league, well remembered in Orange county where for two years they have conducted spring training.

After 15 years of shallows and miseries, the Beavers have flowed from wine cellar to garret—all in the space of six weeks. On July 31 the club had won one game out of 13 and there were few to do them honor.

Now they top the league in the second half of the split season and open a seven game series in Portland today with Los Angeles, orphan child of William Wrigley's Cubs. The Angels are in second place—one game below Portland.

The Beavers have won 15 straight games and the fans are riding the high wave with them. A crowd of more than 15,000 Sunday convinced "Trading Tom" Turner, youthful president, that Portland is a baseball town, providing the club is going somewhere.

Youth, talented youth—set the team ablaze in late July. In a succession of deals Turner picked out Wallace Walters, 228-pound pitcher— infielder— outfielder; Dave Harris; a slashing hitter and head-up outfielder from the Eastern league; Ray O'Dell, a Bellingham, Wash., infielder whom Fielder Jones of the old White Sox says is "the most natural hitter in the Coast league;" Bob Johnson, a $12,500 outfield prospect from Wichita, Kans., and "Buster" Chatham, shortstop from Pueblo in the Western league.

The San Francisco Seals released Walters because he was too fat. This boy, playing left field, put his jumbo proportions behind three pitchers last week to ruin two ball games with homers and in between times pitched a seven-hit victory. The fans showered him with silver.

"Cowboy" Ed Tomlin, pitcher and jack-of-all-trades, has caught Walters on each of his four pitching victories and their antics have caused them to be dubbed "the circus battery."

Turner and Manager Bill Rodgers tempered the team with veterans and the combination appears unbeatable. That sterling catcher, Larry Woodall, for years a mainstay in Detroit, is showing Portland fans some of the keenest backstopping of a decade.

Woodall came to Portland shortly before Westing went up to play shortstop for Detroit. He supposedly came in part payment, but backstairs gossip has it that the Athletics bought him for Portland as a reserve in case Cochran and Perkins become disabled.

He has turned Leroy Mahaffey into one of the finest big league players in the Coast league. Fans may chuckle over that, for Mahaffey was just another pitcher during spring training here, Woodall taught him a slow curve and change of pace and with his murderous fast ball he is plain dynamite.

Mike Drennan, the Athletics' scout, watched the big South Carolina bricklayer plaster the Seals with a 4 to 0 shutout Sunday and it appears certain that Mahaffey will take orders from Connie Mack next year. He's the league's iron man, having already pitched 35 games.

'Jeff' Cravath And Bride On Honeymoon

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 27.—"Jeff" Cravath, one-time star center and captain of the University of Southern California football team, was married here last night to Margaret Colegrove, former Southern California co-ed.

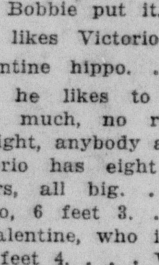

The couple left after the wedding for a honeymoon tour to Oregon. They will live in Denver where Cravath is under contract to coach the Denver university football team three years.

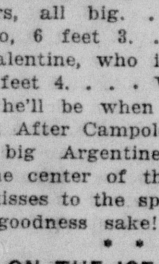

HOOKE AND SLIDES Henry L. Farrell

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

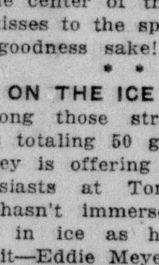

Babe Herman, the Brooklyn cloutier, is one of those endurance talkers? . . . Once when Herman was playing first base and the garrulous Bob Hart was umpiring at that station, Uncle Bobbie told his pitcher not to throw to first base to try to catch a runner napping. . . . "You might hit Babe or Bob and break up their conversation," was the way Bobbie put it. . . . Broadway likes Victorio Campelo, the Argentine hippo. . . . Victorio says he likes to go right on, fight much, no rest, Schmeling all right, anybody all right. . . . Victorio has eight brothers and sisters, all big. . . . One is Felipe, 6 feet 3. . . . Another is Valentine, who is only 13, but is 6 feet 4. . . . What a Valentine he'll be when he grows up. . . . After Campelo beat Heeney, the big Argentine horse stood in the center of the ring throwing kisses to the spectators. . . . For goodness sake!

NEWSPAPERMEN TO BE GUESTS OF WILLOWICK

Laying aside their vaunted typewriters for mashes, niblicks and other instruments of golf warfare, Orange county newspapermen will have the honor of opening Santa Ana's new public golf course, Willowick, Thursday afternoon.

R. C. Noble, vice-principal at Los Angeles high school, who heads the corporation that will operate the course, has invited the scribes to "preview" the nine hole, all-grass, layout as his guests.

The scribes will have the honor of sending the first divots spinning ahead of the ball, of booming out the first tee shots into the rough and of rattling the first putts down the new cups, provided they are large enough.

The preview is set for 2 o'clock, with all players to be started in foursomes regardless of how they finish.

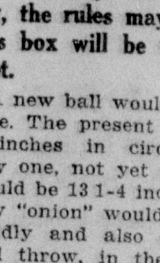

It will be the first play over the new course, which is not to be opened to the public until Sunday, September 1. While the fairways and greens are in good shape, no play will be permitted until Thursday's preview. The cups will be put in place either Wednesday night or Thursday morning.

On Friday, Noble has invited all contractors who helped build the course to be his guests for an informal tournament.

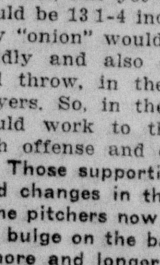

An exhibition match is scheduled for Saturday afternoon, beginning at 2 o'clock. Dallas Jeffers, Long Beach Country club pro, and Dick Linares, another Long Beach pro, are to team up against two well known Los Angeles pros, one of whom may be Charlie Guest, the Hollywood star.

Noble also announced that All Linares, former pro at the Long Beach municipal course, has been engaged as pro at Willowick.

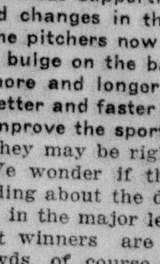

In the meantime, work is being rushed on the clubhouse in order that it may be finished in time for the public opening Sunday. The new course is located on Fifth street, immediately west of the Santa Ana river.

HERE'S A DEAR OLD FRIEND BACK AGAIN!

It'll soon be football time! The thud of the pigskin and the calling of signals already is in the air at Annapolis. The Navy's early bird gridiron artists are pictured below in the first practice of the year as 240 plebe candidates answered the initial call for varsity and class teams. CHICAGO GOES BASEBALL MAD AS CUBS NEAR WORLD SERIES

CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—In the throes of the greatest baseball interest it ever has known, Chicago literally has gone wild over the pennant prospects of the Cubs.

Visions of the first National league championship since 1918 has made baseball the central topic in all gatherings from the bridge table to the directors' room. It is almost impossible to make a purchase in a store without the clerk commenting on the Cubs' possibilities.

The barber tells you about the team in the morning. The waitress expresses an opinion at lunch and the conductor on the 5:15 takes twice his usual time to punch your ticket while he wonders if "they'll hold that lead."

Women Interested Too
The women folk keep up a running fire of conversation during the dinner hour and contrary to the opinions of the young lady who believed the player should be arrested for having stolen a base the Chicago women of today know their baseball.

An indication of the feminine interest is the fact that as many as 25,000 women have been in Cubs park on "ladies' day." The tremendous drawing power of the team was demonstrated again yesterday, when the park was almost filled. Monday, usually, is a lean day for baseball magnates.

The game brought out evidence of the frenzy of the fans. As much as a single caused virtually all of the 31,000 persons to rise to their feet and then the Cubs put on their seven run rally in the ninth which enabled them to defeat the Cincinnati Reds, 9-5.

When during the rally, Rogers Hornsby came up with the tying runs on base the entire gathering stood up shouting "come on Rogers, another homer!" Then Hornsby rapped out the single which tied the score and the place broke into bedlam.

The tremendous interest has brought a headache to Owner William Wrigley as to what he is going to do with everybody if the team gets in the world series. The fans even have gone so far as to suggest that the series be played in Soldiers' field which will seat more than 100,000 but Wrigley vetoed this.

Suggestions to block two streets over build temporary bleachers out there are under consideration and it is possible that bleachers may be built into deep left field but this latter will lessen the size of the playing field.

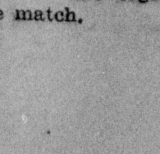

With his right, and they think he can hit Cobb who was always willing to trade punches with Jesse Ayala and Jimmie Rivers in his two previous contests locally.

On the other hand, Cobb is an expert marksman, one of the best sharpshooters to appear at the Delhi road pavilion. He never failed to land against Ayala and in the last part of the Rivers match he stabbed Jimmie, a good defensive boxer, with rights and lefts at will. Chavez's entire defense is the his offense and Cobb may peek him to pieces as he did Ayala and Rivers.

The match promises much and the biggest crowd of the year is expected by Promoter-Matchmaker Foust. Attendance has been on the upgrade here for six weeks, healthy indication, and with young Chavez fighting before his large and loyal home following for the first time since spring there are reasons to believe the arena will be jammed to capacity.

Romeo LeMon, Fullerton high school boy, just breaking in as a professional, meets Julian Arriola in the six-round semi-windup. LeMon is green but he showed possibilities in his losing tussle with Marty Mack last Tuesday. He had Mack on his feet in the first round but was too inexperienced to follow up his momentary advantage.

Luis Echeveste and Howard Carr, bantams, go six rounds in the feature preliminary. Cliff Burrier meets Louis Silvia and Billy Cain scraps Kid Lucas in the other preliminaries.

S. A. Juniors In Playoffs Tomorrow

Santa Ana's Junior Stars, tied with Garden Grove and Fullerton for the Orange county league championship, begin their three-cornered playoff for the title tomorrow.

The local youngsters meet Fullerton on the Ford street school diamond at Fullerton in their first game. The winner will play Garden Grove for the bunting at a time not yet announced.

Santa Ana players are requested to assemble at Frances E. Willard junior high school at 4:30 p. m.

JONES IS NEAR COURSE RECORD AT DEL MONTE

DEL MONTE, Calif., Aug. 27.—Those who aspire to the amateur crown of Bobby Jones were somewhat taken back today, when they learned the gentleman from Atlanta, Ga., played a leisurely round over the Pebble Beach course yesterday and carded a neat 73, one par for the course.

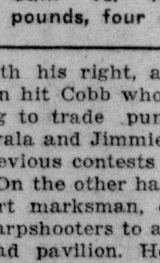

Shooting one over par on the Pebble Beach course is considered quite a feat, for only one golfer has shot the course in even par. Jones sank every put but one, and that one stopped short of the hole by four inches.

Although Charley Cobb's record against the same school of opponents is better, Zenaydo Chavez ruled a 10 to 8 favorite today to beat the former Texas cowboy when they clash tonight over the eight-round route at the Orange County Athletic club.

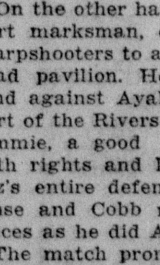

The dynamite in Chavez's good right hand is responsible for this state of affairs.

Notoriously a slow starter, Chavez frequently has been on the losing end for several rounds and apparently on the verge of defeat only to suddenly terminate his matches with one punch knockouts.

STARS BLANKED FIRST TIME IN SUMMER'S PLAY

Only one man got on base off Glenn Stockbridge in the last seven innings at the Bowl last night but he, "String" McDonnell, scored the only run of a 1 to 0, 10-inning pitcher's battle which put Whittier one-up on the Santa Ana Stars in the "consolation series" between the runners-up in the Orange County and American Night Baseball leagues.

McDonnell, better known as a pitcher but playing first base while his colleague, Lloyd Johnson, waged this nip and tuck duel with Stockbridge, opened the tenth frame with one of the hardest hit balls ever seen in the Sixth and Olive street enclosure.

"String's" contribution was a tremendous drive over Wayne Nelson in left field which on the line hit half way up the bank. Its flight suddenly terminated by this immovable object, the sphere shot straight up in the air like a geyser a matter of 25 feet and before the frantic Nelson could obtain control of the situation the long-legged McDonnell was collecting his scattered breath on third base.

Sacrifice Fly Wins
Stockbridge made a determined effort to pitch himself out of the hole. Working carefully, he fanned Montgomery for the strike out and had A. Hill two strikes down when the Whittier third sacker arched to Schuchardt in center field, McDonnell scoring after the catch.

Unable to make up the lost ground in their half of the overtime tussle, Santa Ana not only suffered defeat but also its first shutout in 33 games this summer.

The two pitchers were far ahead of the hitmen's last night. Stockbridge, turning in his best game of the year, one in which he allowed only three hits, fanned 10, walked none and allowed only four men to see first base, at the same time was officially charged with his first defeat of the season. The wags say that Johnson has seen his better summers as a submariner but the veteran seldom has been as effective as he was against the Stars. Limiting them to five hits, three of them of the infield variety, Johnson was the master in every pinch. He never lost his poise.

Denny doubled for Whittier after two were away in the first inning but died there when McDonnell lined to L. Hill. Johnson was safe on Hill's error in the second, again with two away, but perished on first when White whiffed. Davis singled in the third but was forced at second. From this point until McDonnell tripled in the tenth, Stockbridge retired the visitors in order.

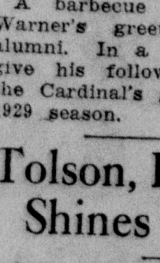

Stars Helpless Too
The Stars were almost as helpless. Hill walked in the first and went to second on a wild pitch but got no further.

Scott and Nelson singled after two were gone in the fourth but Johnson fanned them for the third out.

Wilcox singled in the eighth and advanced on Stockbridge's sacrifice, which made the second out. Orr Schuchardt smashed a long fly to right center but Davis pulled it down to save Johnson.

The Stars had their best chance in the ninth when Hill beat out a bunt as an opening wedge. Merrill, failing in two attempts to sacrifice, finally fanned and Scott popped out. While Johnson was working on Nelson, Hill stole second and continued on to third

Fandom still flocks to see the Stars play ball. The west bleachers were packed again last night and there was a good representation on the north side. Whittier brought a number of its own supporters to the Bowl. The Quaker town is one of the hotbeds of night baseball. Some say the sport started there.

Mysterious Impulse

Being the story of the pull of a tumble-down farm against the lure of a great hotel.

By... Fannie Hurst
Highest Paid Short Story Writer in the World

EVERYONE in the hotel bowed in acknowledgment to Eleanor Morley's impeccable quality of sweetness in her treatment of her mother. This included Mrs. Midgely herself, who recognized how fortunate she was in possessing a daughter like Eleanor. And there was plenty of time for reflection like this to flow through the brain of Mrs. Midgely. To one as accustomed to leisure as she, the days offered plenty of leisure to do countless things she had never found the moments to do during the years she was struggling as a widow to rear Eleanor, educate her and keep going the small Connecticut farm left her by her husband, who had died of exposure trying to coax fecundity from a sparse and rocky bosom.

Since Eleanor's marriage to the Spencer Morley of the well-known Morley Chocolate Mints, Mrs. Midgely was entitled to feel that she was more than compensated in leisure, repose and comfort for the long, lean years when she had carried on her small and patient-looking shoulders duties that should have been shared by three or four.

THE Morleys and Mrs. Midgely occupied a spacious three-room suite on the bay-window corner on the eighth floor of a modern uptown apartment hotel. They shared a common bath of white tile with an inlay of green ducks swimming above the tub. The sitting-room contained a bright bay-window, with Eleanor's growing plants and a canary bird. There was a piano strewn with Eleanor's music, a small white poodle dog which slept twenty hours a day on a pink silk cushion and a small printed sign nailed to the door which held out to the guests not only rules and regulations, but every offer of comfort. Eleanor and Spencer occupied a nice square bedroom, rather dark because it faced a court, furnished in Circassian walnut. Mrs. Midgely's room, smaller still, and, it must be admitted, darker still, had no window at all, but a practical skylight through which, if you peered hard enough, you could see a faint gleam of stars against the opaque glass.

For this suite, furnished, the Morleys paid the sum of eight thousand dollars a year. That meant that Mrs. Midgely prepared the three breakfasts in the bathroom, over an electric ring, laying Turkish towels along the transom to keep the coffee smell from percolating into the corridors, thus indicting them for violation of the "No Cooking In Rooms" rule. Lunch Mrs. Midgely and Eleanor took in a small cafeteria two or three blocks away from the hotel. At evening the three of them, mother, daughter and son-in-law, emerged quite grandly down into the main dining room of the hotel for a table d'hôte dinner that began with an elaborate appetizer and marched on through soup, fish, fowl and dessert to a finale of bridge in the lobby, a motion picture or, occasionally, a theatre.

MRS. MIDGELY did not play cards, but, even with her daughter and son-in-law much in demand for that pastime, evenings in the hotel were seldom tedious. There were women of Mrs. Midgely's own age—many of them similarly situated or living on incomes of their own—to talk with, to say nothing of odds and ends of elderly men, eager to pass the time of day or night. Sometimes a group of the older folk made up a party among themselves and attended a motion picture. This always delighted Eleanor, who often rushed around organizing the party herself.

Sweet girl, Eleanor! And Spencer, too, was all that could be desired in a son-in-law. To be sure, he was sometimes a little abrupt when things that had to do with business were on his mind. Mrs. Midgely sometimes suspected he came home with a whiff of the alcoholic on his breath. But, in the main, he was a kind, good fellow, highly tolerant of the fact that from the first day of her marriage Eleanor had been cumbered with the presence of a third person. And Eleanor was in love and in a perpetual state of bedazzlement over the change of fortune which had hurtled her from the life of the small farm in Connecticut to the apartment-hotel where existence was lubricated and moved forward easily, even luxuriously.

If it bewildered Mrs. Midgely to find herself sometimes sitting the day through like a well-fed, sleepy frog on the upholstered chairs of their apartment or on the upholstered divans of the lobbies, she knew that the mere thought was an ungrateful one. Mrs. Midgely's hands, even though they were manicured now by the blonde girl in the hotel beauty parlor, still bore traces of the manual labor they had done in those years when she was struggling to rear Eleanor.

It seemed sacrilegious to regard the sitting about as tedium. Eleanor did not. She was another girl. Her bright hair was alive and electric with vitality. Her legs, in their sheer silk stockings, flashed about eagerly on their missions of enjoyment and pleasure. And she was perennially sweet and thoughtful about her mother, too. Sometimes Mrs. Midgely would wake up from her afternoon nap to find a fresh box of chocolates on the table beside her bed and a motion picture magazine. This was Eleanor's way of filling in a possible hiatus in her mother's time while she was passing an afternoon away at a bridge or matinee party, with this pleasant invitation to lie longer abed and munch chocolates and read the picture magazine.

THEN something happened that created quite a serious situation between Mrs. Midgely and her son-in-law. As Mrs. Midgely weepingly confided to her daughter later, probably Spencer had been in the right, but he need not have been so rought about it.

With tears of sympathy in her bright blue eyes, Eleanor assured her mother that that was Spencer's "way". He had not meant to be blunt. Mrs. Midgely realized that that was probably true, because later her son-in-law apologized and sent her roses. But the heart within her lay sore.

An old gentleman in the hotel, a Mr. Mosely, a man of sixty, of refinement, a widower of twenty years, no children, one of the cronies with whom Mrs. Midgely was in the habit of sitting about while the younger folks played cards, developed the immediate need of one thousand dollars. A mortgage had fallen due some few weeks before certain remittances of his were scheduled to arrive from South America.

There was in Mrs. Midgely's saving bank exactly twelve hundred dollars to her credit, her sole patrimony in the form of money which she had received from the sale of her Connecticut farm; money, she told herself often, that lay between her and complete dependence on Spencer.

FIGURE it out later as she would, Mrs. Midgely could not, for the life of her, realize how it had come about that she and old Mr. Mosely had walked across the street to her bank where she had drawn out the thousand dollars.

There was something so appealing about Mr. Mosely, the fine white snow of his hair, his eager yet withal embarrassed eyes, his desire to hold on to the small Vermont holding which was dear to him because of memories.

Not that Mr. Mosely had suggested the loan. On the contrary, it had all come about through the incident of his showing Mrs. Midgely some snapshots of the old place in Vermont.

It stabbed her to see this place, the small rambling farmhouse, the sugar trees, the copious barns, the flowing meadows, the little detached summer kitchen, with buckets of drinking water on a bench in front of it, reminiscent not only of Mrs. Midgely's own home, but of something deeper and more atavistic. Here was the typical home of the ancestors of Mrs. Midgely. Desire for that kind of home ran in her veins. Great grandmothers and great, great grandmothers of Mrs. Midgely had lugged buckets of drinking water to benches outside of summer kitchens.

Anyway, the impulse to come to the rescue of Mr. Mosely was bigger than Mrs. Midgely. Almost before she realized it, the deal was accomplished and the little old man, with white hair like snow and a tear in his eye, had kissed her hand.

Of course, it transpired that the farm in Vermont was not worth the saving. Scrawny, sterile land, tumbling barns, broken fences. Spencer had been right. His anger justified. Mrs. Midgely had to endure the humiliation of beholding her son-in-law in a position to say, "I told you so." He never said it, except by his manner. Eleanor, tireless in her effort to act as buffer between these two, saw to it that he did not.

WHAT happened in the end was again as bewildering to Mrs. Midgely as had been the incident of giving over the thousand dollars. She only knew that here, in the figure of this white-haired old man and in the prospect of his broken-down old farm, lay her happiness.

Mrs. Midgely and Mr. Mosely, with Eleanor and Spencer and one or two of the hotel guests for witness, were married in the Morley suite. Eleanor was beautiful and Spencer pleasantly tipsy on the champagne he had provided for the occasion.

The Moselys live on the farm in Vermont. There are practically no modern improvements, so it happens that Mrs. Mosely, concerned for Mr. Mosely's rheumatism, literally does carry the two buckets of drinking water to the bench outside the summer kitchen.

Every morning at six, the two of them set out on the endless chores of this farm of theirs.

The winters are cold, frozen ones full of hardship, but filled with a sure happiness. Springtime on the Mosley Farm is delightful. Along about June, there arrive Eleanor and her two youngsters to spend the summer.

Spencer comes up, too, from time to time. He has recently advanced his step father-in-law a loan of one thousand dollars for purposes of mending broken fences, supplying new farm implements and installing electric light.

County Citrus Shipments Already Exceed 10,000 Cars

OUTLOOK GOOD FOR 1930 CROP, HOUSES REPORT

Citrus fruit shipments to date this year through the two Orange county exchanges have totaled about 10,445 cars, according to figures from the Northern Orange County exchange. The totals will be considerably advanced, however, by the close of the season, October 31, it said. The sum realized from these shipments will run into several million dollars, according to D. R. King, manager of the northern exchange, and L. D. Palmer, of the exchange in Orange.

Few navels are handled by the Fullerton house and up until Saturday 5700 cars of oranges of 462 boxes each, and 340 cars of lemons had been shipped. During normal years shipments of valencias by his exchange total from 3800 to 4000 cars, King said. From 50 to 60 cars a day now are being shipped.

It was thought at first, the manager stated, that the crop of next year would be about the same as that of last year, or approximately half of this year's bumper crop. However, since this estimate was made, conditions have changed, the fruit is setting good and it is thought that the crop of 1930 will somewhat exceed that of 1928. Many conditions enter into this estimate, King declared, and predictions are practically mere guess work at the present time.

This year's shipments from the Orange County Fruit exchange have reached 3830 cars of valencias, 190 cars of navels, 15 cars of grapefruit and 800 cars of lemons. Last year the total shipment of valencias was but 2730 cars, according to L. D. Palmer, manager of the exchange.

The 1930 crop looks good, Palmer said, and while the crop will not be a large one, it is expected that the sizes will be large. This year's crop of small sized oranges has presented a new marketing problem to exchange managers and to managers of the citrus packing houses, who have been obliged to create a demand for small oranges.

About twice the number of oranges are being shipped monthly as in previous years.

The body was discovered by early morning fishermen at the pier. The body has been taken to Norwalk.

New Features Of Vehicle Law Will Be Told Officers

Many points in connection with the new features of the state motor vehicle act, which went into effect August 14, and concerning which there has been some question, are expected to be cleared up at a conference of officers of the state motor highway patrol of the southern district, scheduled to be held in the Alexandria hotel, Los Angeles, tomorrow morning.

CAR DESTROYED WHEN IGNITED FROM BACKFIRE

A new car was destroyed by fire in the Santa Ana canyon, about three miles from Olive, last night. The car, owned by Gilbert Applegate, of 208 Argonne avenue, Long Beach, who was driving alone at the time, seemingly ignited from a backfire when the driver slowed down to round a curve.

Applegate stated today that he noticed a light under the car and that the seat became uncomfortably warm. Investigation revealed that the car was ablaze. The machine was travelling between 40 and 45 miles an hour.

Applegate was slightly burned about the hands when he attempted to remove the front seat in order to get at the fire below. As he started to pull the seat out the flames gushed up into the driving compartment and rapidly spread over the upholstery. Attempts by passing motorists to quench the blaze with fire extinguishers proved of no avail.

Orange county unit, was notified to attend the conference, which was called by Eugene Biscailuz, newly appointed head of the state highway patrol.

It is expected that rulings on the use of sirens and red lights by members of the patrol using privately owned vehicles will be made and the decision as to the distinctive color that such privately owned vehicles must be painted when used for traffic patrol by officers announced.

LICENSES MUST BE SECURED BY CONTRACTORS

Registration blanks arrived today at the Orange County Builders' exchange office, in Santa Ana, and the exchange will handle applications which must be filled out under the contractor's license law, which became effective Wednesday, August 14. On that date at a meeting, in Sacramento, of the governor's cabinet, directors to man the newly created state departments were announced.

The administration of the contractors' license law came under the head of the department of vocational and professional standards. Maj. James F. Collins, of Long Beach, was announced as director of the department. He is an engineer of experience and enjoys an enviable reputation for character and integrity in the beach city, where his accomplishments have been outstanding.

Frederick W. Sanford, secretary-manager of the Orange County Builders' exchange, said today that the exchange had obtained permission to copy the blanks and is willing to furnish the materials to assist the contractors in the compulsory registration under the new protective law. Any contractor performing jobs valued at more than $200, with the exception of state or farm work, is required to register, he asserted.

Penalty for operating as a contractor without such a license shall, upon conviction thereof, be a fine of not to exceed $500, or imprisonment in the county jail for a term of not to exceed six months, or by both such fine and imprisonment. The same penalties shall apply to any member of a co-partnership, or to any construction manager or directing officer or a corporation.

Seal Beach City Council To Meet In New Hall Soon

SEAL BEACH, Aug. 27.—The city council of Seal Beach is hoping to hold the September meeting in the new city hall. The contractors have announced that the new building will be finished September 1. If their estimate is correct, Mayor R. E. Dolly will call the first council meeting to order in the new city hall on the first Thursday in September. The Seal Beach city council meets the first and third Thursday of each month.

New Stage Office Opened At Beach

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Aug. 27.—The new stage office on Ocean avenue is to be a union depot for all stages passing through this city in all directions. It is in charge of B. H. Dulaney.

The new stage office has white enamel desks and counters. There is a large waiting room, with the doors opening toward the ocean and the sea breeze, with comfortable chairs and other accommodations. Agent Dulaney has established a cigar and tobacco counter, enclosed sanitary showcases candies and confections and a fountain for feed drinks, ice cream and sundaes.

REGISTRATION WILL BEGIN ON SEPTEMBER 13

Students who have not previously attended the Santa Ana high school must present their credentials so that they will know what classes to register for on the mornings of September 13 and 14, from 9 a.m. to 12 o'clock, according to an announcement made today.

Ray Adkinson will be in charge of the registration and it became known that students who registered in June will not necessarily need to attend before the opening day. Regular class work will commence Monday morning, September 16.

Freshman days in the junior college will be September 12, 13 and 14. Registration of Sophomores will be held September 15 and new students will register September 17 and 18. College instruction will begin Thursday, September 19.

SEAL BEACH MAYOR FILLS FISH ORDER

SEAL BEACH, Aug. 27.—Fishermen at Seal Beach have been enjoying a run of mullet during the last few days. Mayor R. E. Dolly is the champion mullet catcher to date. He came home from an early morning fishing trip along the bay shore with three mullet that averaged over two pounds each.

"We had some guests at home who ordered fish for dinner," said the mayor. "I filled the order to their satisfaction."

The guests at the mayor's home were Robert Weaver and his sister, Miss Margaret Weaver, of Merced, cousins of Mrs. Dolly; Mrs. Cora White, of Auburn, Placer county, cousin of Mayor Dolly, and Mrs. White's daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Proctor, of San Bernardino.

ECKENER SAYS 'HELLO'

S. A. TROOPS ON GUARD AS GRAF CAST LOOSE FOR ITS FINAL LEG OF WORLD TOUR

Arriving home at 4 o'clock this morning, 50 members of Company F, National Guard, today are recalling the experience of acting as guard on the skirmish line when the great Graf Zeppelin left Mines field, last night, on a continuation of its epic journey around the world.

The Santa Ana men were ordered on duty on the field at about 9 o'clock last night, after having been held in reserve all day.

Captain Donald Winans was in charge, with Lt. Albert Wunderlich in charge of operations on the port side of the great air liner and Lt. James B. Pettit in charge of the starboard side. From their positions on the skirmish line the men from this vicinity were enabled to see the taking off of the ship from an advantageous point. They also witnessed the arrival of a number of celebrities and had opportunity of observing the passengers and officers of the ship.

According to Lieutenant Pettit, it looked for a few minutes as if the Graf would not clear the high power lines at the end of the field. The men were kept on the field until about 1:30 a. m. the lieutenant said, owing to the fact that it was thought, the Graf might return as its rudder was injured in taking off.

The officers of the companies on guard visited the gondola and obtained several souvenirs, among them some German pumpernickel bread.

DELAY ACTION ON PROTEST TO ATHLETIC CLUB

Following a report by Chief of Police Claude Rogers, the city council, meeting last night in the city hall, filed for future reference a petition protesting against alleged disturbances in an East Fourth street athletic club.

The protest was filed with the understanding that the action would afford an opportunity for Henry Foust, manager of the club, to carry out his program for eliminating conditions referred to. In his report Rogers stated that Foust was doing everything in his power to eliminate the alleged grievance. He stated that his investigations had shown that the cause of the trouble lay more in the "hangers on" than in the members of the organization itself. These "camp followers" trail the fighters and club members to the training quarters and create the disturbances in question on many occasions, Rogers said.

COLON FLUSHING

COLON FLUSHING is the act of washing the Colon with medicated water. The colon while full of this water is massaged for the purpose of loosening everything from the intestinal walls and also to open the Semilunar Folds and Kinks, and to remove all the poisonous deposits therefrom.

INTESTINAL HYGIENE

Intestinal Hygiene is a health method that is broader and more successful than colon flushing. Intestinal Hygiene has its beginning in the MOUTH and ends in the act of ELIMINATION. In other words the Food, the Stomach, the Liver and the Intestines must ALL be corrected and brought into harmonious co-operation. Colon flushing is only a part of Intestinal Hygiene and when ALL are properly combined and handled by one who knows his business YOU HAVE THE MOST SUCCESSFUL HEALTH METHOD KNOWN TODAY.

B. P. W. Convention Is Discussed at Picnic
Of Local Club

One of their infrequent but enjoyable picnics served last night to call together the members of Santa Ana Business and Professional Women's club, who motored to Irvine park for an appetizing baked ham supper served by Mrs. M. C. Maloney and her August social committee.

Believed of any responsibility in the preparation of the picnic fare, the members gave themselves over to the pleasures of strolling through the oak and sycamore grove, lingering on the shores of the picturesque little lake, and exchanging vacation experiences, while the committee completed supper preparations. Serving with Mrs. Maloney were Miss Mary Smart and Mrs. Eva McConnell, aided by Mrs. Ruth Taylor Souder and Freda Moesser Barger.

A feature of the evening was a discussion of the approaching state convention in Pasadena, September 5, 6 and 7, and Mrs. Minnie Mayhill, president, presented her plans for attendance, together with an outline of the convention program. Hotel Huntington will be headquarters with interesting speakers promised for each day and a succession of social events in addition to the important business sessions.

"Occupational day" on Thursday will feature outstanding women in the club federation. The evening will be spent in Pasadena Community Playhouse with a special bill for entertainment of visiting clubwomen. Friday will be California day closing with the "Gay Nineties" banquet when costumes of the Victorian period will be in vogue.

Saturday's business session will be marked by election of officers and club delegates will be expected to be present to cast their votes. The formal banquet will close the three days' session with which is promised as a "Fairland surprise" and is a much anticipated event. For those who remain over until Sunday, a trip to Mt. Wilson observatory has been planned.

Ada Margaret Brayton, state president, has written to Mrs. Mayhill that she is securing some of the finest talent in the state for the various lecture programs, so local interest in the event is very high. Mrs. Mayhill has not definitely appointed the full number of delegates allowed the Santa Ana club in proportion to its membership, but Miss Doris Robbins, the local club's entrant in the beauty contest will serve together with Mrs. John A. Tessmann, last year's president.

In addition to discussion of convention plans, Mrs. Mayhill last night appointed Miss Mary Smart as custodian of club properties, for a two year term.

Vacation wanderings on the part of many members affected the attendance at last night's picnic, the crowd making up in interest what it lacked in numbers. Those present included Laura Murray, Helen N. Gallagher, Lorraine French, Vanche Etelle Plumb, Lee Patton, Mrs. O. M. Robbins, Doris Robbins, Jennie Tessmann, Lena Thomas, Adelaide Cochran, Hazel Northcross, Elizabeth Perkins, Alice V. Wassner, Eleanor Young Elliott, Louise Stephenson, Martha Whitson, Ruth Taylor Souder, Freda Moesser Barger, Harriett R. Bonnell, Eva McConnell, Dr. Mary E. Wright, Alice H. Peterson, Doris Lattier, Alice Maloney, Laura McNaught, Mabel C. Larrick, Harriett Whitford, Virginia Craig, Minnie Mayhill, Mabel McFadden, Mabel C. Benjamin and Mayme Brightwell.

Last Night's Wedding
Is Culmination of College Romance

That place of many lovely weddings, St. John's Episcopal church of Los Angeles, was chosen as the setting for the nuptials of Miss Margaret Colegrove, daughter of Dr. John Albert Colegrove of Los Angeles, and Newell (Jeff) Cravat of this city which took place last night.

Gowned in white satin and a long tulle veil with cap of real lace, the bride carried orchids and lilies of the valley and was assisted by Mrs. Hugh Sears who, as matron of honor, wore orchid moire and carried yellow roses.

Miss Evelyn Martin in pink tulle and carrying a sheath of pink roses was maid of honor and Miss Margaret Wallace and Miss Ruth Moon, wearing yellow and green sate with which they carried pom-pom dahlias were the bridesmaids.

Louise Gorphide served. Mr. Cravat as best man and the ushers were William McClung, Neil Rainey and Hugh Sears. Little Isabel Smith, in blue taffeta, was flower girl.

Following the reception which was held in the Beverly Hills hotel, Mr. and Mrs. Cravat left for a honeymoon trip to Vancouver from where they will go directly to Denver where Mr. Cravat will be director of athletics at Denver university.

Mr. Cravat is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. O. K. Cravat of this city and he is a graduate of the local high school where he played a prominent part in athletics. While at the University of Southern California, he starred on the varsity football team and in his senior year was all-American center. After graduation he was assistant coach at the university. He is a member of Sigma Chi fraternity.

His bride also attended the University of Southern California where she completed her junior year last spring. She affiliated with Kappa Alpha Theta sorority.

The WOMAN'S DAY

by ALLENE SUMNER

Woman as a spender is concerning big business more and more. It was only a few years ago that brokerage houses publicly and unmercifully talked of women as "nuisances" and "blamed nuisances" at that. They talked about women being fussy about their money; about their tendency to be "poor sports" and "bad losers."

But rare is the broker who dares say it now with women "playing the market" to the tune of millions!

Woman as a spender is considered by the world's biggest industries, from the builder who knows that his house will sell, only if the woman finds it attractive and convenient, to the railroad that advertises comfortable accommodations for the woman traveler.

"THE WOMAN'S GUIDE"

Banks are putting out "courses of finance instruction for women" in which they discuss stock and bond buying, what the trust funds does, the income bond, explain, in short, every financial question any human being, not only women, might ask.

The woman of the pocketbook has come into her own. It's a far cry from the day when all that "The Mrs." had was "the butter and egg money" kept in a cracked tea pot on the top of pantry shelf.

THE OLD TALES

The pamphlet tells innumerable tales of woe of trusting ladies who have lost their savings by listening to the greasy-tongued bond salesman. Then there is the tale of the widow who spent her insurance all in a lump, encountering divers tragedies, from the permanent wave which just wasn't permanent at all, to the nice certificate for a share in a gold mine in Mexico.

Somehow tales of swindled ladies leaves us a bit cold. I wonder if any more women have been swindled throughout the world's history than men?

MODEST SEX!

It's male modesty, he sums his case. And this male modesty is as much greater than much-vaunted female modesty as male physical prowess is greater.

Avant with all this talk about womanly modesty, he states! It has nothing in it with that of the male who blushes to show his Adam's-apple, and would no more bare an elbow to public gaze than sprout pin feathers.

Now I myself have had much to say about male stand-pattism, male conservatism, male fear of the unfamiliar, making it utterly impossible for this seemingly sensible innovation ever to become a habit, but, much as I hate agreeing when there's any slightest chance of argument, I believe that my colleague has found the one and only reason.

Hail to man, the fearless exponent of immodesty!

HE NAILS IT

With all the to-do about this coy little innovation of a few stalwart males wearing pajamas in torrid weather, not only in the privacy of the boudoir, but on the

Mother Hubbard's Clam Chowder

One day, not long ago, I almost went Mother Hubbard's consternation one better when I was moving from one house to another and forgot that eating had become an established habit.

When stomachs began to growl I took stock of what was in the kitchen and it was mighty little: A can of vegetable soup... a can of minced clams... a pint of milk... half a dozen rolls... no butter... a little cream and half a glass of currant jelly. So the cans were opened, the soup and clams plus some water, salt and pepper were heated together, milk was heated in another saucepan and just before the two were combined the tiniest pinch of soda was added to the soup for safety's sake.

We split and toasted the rolls, spread them with creamed cheese in lieu of butter, and with the currant jelly and coffee that varied and assorted lot of females were well fed.

Here is where the funny part comes in: I thought I had discovered a novel way to make Clam Chowder, and I was gloating about it to a friend who loves to cook. Before I could tell her about it she chimed in, "Oh, yes, I've done that just lots 'n' lots of times... you take a can of so-and-so's TOMATO soup, a can of clams and some cream and you make Clam Chowder." Far be it from me to disturb her blissful ignorance, for I did not use tomato soup, I used VEGETABLE soup, and plain milk rather than cream... no sharply rounded curves for me!

TODAY'S RECIPE
Cottage Cheese Pie
1½ cups cottage cheese
1 cup raisins, chopped
½ cup honey
2 eggs, well beaten
1 lemon, juice and grated rind
¼ cup cream
Pastry for bottom crust
Here is a cottage cheese pie a little more toothsome than the ordinary variety and as easy to make as custard pie.

Put the cheese into a sieve and street and in the office, as well, it remains for a male to strike the nail on the head and find out just why this eminently sensible fad never will take the boys.

It is our colleague, Rodney Dutcher, eminent writer of statesmanship, who now turns his incisive mind and trenchant pen to the weighty subject of why the male will never perambulate to any great extent pajama-clad.

press out all moisture. Attach the finest knife to the food grinder and run the cheese through the grinder, then put the coarse knife in and run the raisins through.

Mix them with the cheese, add the honey, grated lemon rind, but not the juice, and mix thoroughly. Beat the eggs to a light froth, whisk the lemon juice into them and then beat into the cheese mixture.

Have the pastry rolled and in the pie tin before you add the cream to the filling.

The oven must be hot to start with—450 degrees F.—after 10 minutes at this heat turn the oven to "low" and finish baking the pie. Use the same test for this pie as for custard—the blade of a silver knife inserted when it seems firm.

Over 2,300 calories will be found in the pie. That means almost 400 calories for a small portion, and small it had better be, for a national convention of energy calories seems to have gathered in this pie. I think it might be a good thing to gather together all the fattening recipes and keep them until you are 60—then splurge for the rest of your days!

Seasonable Sunday breakfasts, eaten leisurely, make up for a week of hurry and bustle; who doesn't like to be abed one day a week... set up, bathe and dress on slow bell... find their special page of the Sunday paper and settle down for a happy hour of good food eaten as human beings should eat! For those people I have planned breakfast menus to fit the various seasons of the year. The menus are available immediately on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Tomorrow we will make Dill Pickles.

'SALUTE' OPENS IN BROADWAY THEATER

"Salute," an up-to-the-minute romance of West Point and Annapolis, produced by William Fox and directed by John Ford, opened here yesterday for a four-day run in the Fox-Broadway theater.

A great story of the rivalry of two brothers, one at Annapolis and the other at West Point, a strong brother against a weak one, a dashing football hero type against a dreamer, the picture carries with it all the romance and color of life at the two United States academies and is high class entertainment at all times.

George O'Brien, star of "Sunrise" and other big pictures, appears in his first all-talking venture in "Salute." The feminine lead is portrayed by Helen Chandler.

THE TINYMITES
STORY BY MAL COCHRAN — PICTURES BY KNICK
REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

Out through the air the big plane sped and suddenly wee Clowny said, "Hey, Mister Aviator, will you take us through a cloud? I think that that would be real fun. We'd hide away from old man sun. Come on and do it for us. If it's something that's allowed."

The aviator smiled and said, "Sure! There's a cloud right over head." And instantly he turned his plane and headed up that way. It wasn't long till they were in the cloud. "Twas just like smoke, real thin. "Oh, my," said little Carpy, "it's like night-time, 'stead of day."

Then out into the sun they flew. "I'll tell you what you Tiniies do," exclaimed the friendly flyer. "Now, not one of you must shirk. I have a lot of strands of rope, which you can nicely use, I hope. You're going to make a parachute, if all of you will work."

"Upon your tent just tie the strands. Get busy now, with both your hands. I think that you'll enjoy a drop from up here to the ground. Be sure and make the knots real tight so everything will work all right." The bunch soon were so busy that they didn't make a sound.

The tying work seemed heaps of fun and soon the parachute was done. Then Carpy said, "Where will we drop and then where will we go!" The aviator said, "Right here and there is not a thing to fear. You'll land right where you want to. There's your circus, right below."

The canvas then was folded tight and every little Tynymite grabbed hold of one long piece of rope. Then Scouty cried, "All set!" "Then jump!" the aviator snapped. Right soon the canvas was unwrapped. The Tynymites were in the air. Their biggest thriller yet.

(The Tynymites land on the circus ground in the next story.)

ESTES JR. SAYS WIFE ASSISTED SON TO SMOKE

John W. Estes Jr., today brought suit for divorce against Irene K. Estes, accusing her of incessant cigarette smoking and of giving fags to her minor son. The complaint said Mrs. Estes recently had returned from St. Louis, where she was working in a hotel, and that she had asserted she would take the second son of the family back there with her. She also threatened to sue the plaintiff's parents for alienation of affection, the complaint related.

Estes asked that the court issue an order restraining Mrs. Estes from taking the younger son from Santa Ana.

For the last five years Mrs. Estes has neglected her home duties and has spent a large part of her time with her friends and in seeking excitement in general, the complaint stated. It was asserted that she smoked cigarettes incessantly, both at home and when in public, and that she not only gave cigarettes to her minor son but also smoked with him.

On Feb. 23, 1929, she went to St. Louis and took the boy with her, securing a job in a hotel and finding employment for him, the complaint said. On August 25 she returned to Santa Ana and made the alleged threats regarding taking the second son away and of suing Estes' parents for alienation of affection, the complaint declared. The suit was launched through C. D. Swanner, Santa Ana attorney.

White Death Was Accidental, Says Inquest Verdict

Following the coroner's inquest, at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, in Winbiger's funeral home, the body of Fred C. White, prominent Los Angeles advertising executive, who was instantly killed in an automobile crash early Sunday morning, near Seal Beach, was removed to Los Angeles. Funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

The inquest verdict, announced today by Coroner Charles Brown, was "accidental death from automobile wreck while the deceased was operating his car on the wrong side of the road."

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Weber, of 923 Hillside street, Berkeley, who were occupants of the other car in the tragic crash, are slightly improved. It was stated today from St. Mary's hospital, in Long Beach. Attendants in the hospital stated, however, that Mrs. Weber still was in a serious condition.

BRADDOCK, OKUN IN L. A. BOUT TONIGHT

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 27.—James Braddock and Yale Okun, light-heavyweights, will meet tonight at the Olympic in what probably would be a fight for Tommy Loughran's renounced title—if the bout were in New York.

Managers for both fighters petitioned the California state boxing commission to sanction the bout as a championship affair, but the California officials refused.

While Okun has met tougher and more experienced fighters than Braddock, the latter is a slight favorite due to his recent showing against Loughran.

$26,763 Asked As Result Of Hurts Suffered In Crash

E. C. Franzen, of Santa Ana, was made defendant today in a $26,763.79 damage suit filed by Charles D. Wallace and Rose Wallace, of Long Beach. The complaint was based on an automobile accident, which took place on July 14, just south of the business district of San Clemente on the Coast highway.

The Franzen car is alleged to have collided with the Wallace machine near the intersection of the Coast highway and Paseo de Cristobal.

Mrs. Wallace suffered serious injuries, including one to her left ear, which has resulted in a permanent disfigurement, the complaint stated.

High tides continue to prevail, although the waters are not as turbulent as they were last week. When Jean Belshe, life guard and expert swimmer, assisted by Bud Higgins, rescued three persons, a man and two boys from the surf here Sunday, the waters were so rough the life guard could not swim to the beach with the swimmers he was trying to aid. It was necessary to lower ropes over the side of the pier and pull the victims up on the pier. Even after being freed of the weakened swimmers, Belshe and Higgins had difficulty in swimming back to the beach. People going in the ocean while the high waves prevail, should use every possible caution, the life guard says.

An interesting account is given of a forest fire in Wheeler's canyon at Santa Paula.

JUNIOR COLLEGE POSSIBILITIES

Local people who are occupied in other pursuits than education are, for the most part, unaware of the important place in the community which the Junior College is filling, and the number of people it is influencing. Many adults are becoming aware of it because in their search for means of self-development they find that the Junior College supplies their needs, either through the faculty of the college, or by making available extension courses from the state university. In that way, a larger and larger number of people are becoming interested in the Junior College, though the adult needs are but one of the minor purposes of the college.

On September seventeenth there is to be a dinner at which representatives from other communities in Orange county will meet to discuss the growth of the Junior College, which, it seems inevitable, must come along the lines of a union Junior College, in which and for which most, if not all, the communities of the county will co-operate.

The opportunity of the Junior College for bringing honor and fame and fine citizens to the county is second to no other pursuit harbored in the county.

The Junior College everywhere is in an experimental stage. It scarcely exists outside of California, though it does exist in Detroit and Cincinnati and a few other of the larger cities. It is here in California that the greatest number of experiments along this line are being made, and the eyes of educators all over the country are turned upon them. Many of its tremendous possibilities are still only in the minds of the most advanced educators.

Not long ago Dr. W. H. Snyder of Los Angeles, who is to have charge of the Los Angeles Junior College which has taken over the Vermont Avenue campus of the University of California discussed his ideals for that institution. He plans to carry the academic pioneering along with a curriculum which is based on a novel conception of the function of a Junior College. His institution will cater to the class of students who cannot devote more than two years to a college course. It will offer to them a special two-year liberal arts course, and also a variety of semi-professional courses. The latter type, of course, will be planned to give students sufficient technical information in various professions to enable them to fill competently the subordinate posts in these professions. It is through these courses that Dr. Snyder aims to give the Los Angeles Junior College its distinctive character. That particular aim for his institution is eminently fitting for an institution in the Los Angeles area where there are already two institutions to which students can go who are planning for a four year course, but who would be financially handicapped if forced to live outside their own homes.

In Orange County the situation is somewhat different. One of the primary purposes which a Junior College in our community can fulfill is the first two years of a college course, practically without expense. Furthermore, since it enables a student to continue his college studies in a community in which he is acquainted, there are available for him opportunities for earning his necessary expenses of clothing and books which would not be so easily available to him were he forced to go into a strange community at the time he enters college. Practically the whole community is out to help these Junior College students in what little help is necessary in addition to the opportunity of Junior college itself, for there is scarcely an organization which does not have a scholarship fund for the Junior college students.

But to return to Dr. Snyder's particular ideals for his institution. He feels that the four year college course is graduating too many "commissioned officers" of industry.

"Many persons," he says, "who spend from four to six years in a university to get a technical degree never become actual practitioners of the profession to which the degree grants them entrance. Instead they spend their lives at the subordinate posts in the profession attending to the routine and detail of their employers. And, being cases of frustrated ambition, they often are unable to reconcile themselves to their fate, and, therefore, become failures even in their so-called subordinate posts."

Orange county is in a position to work out a Junior college experiment along entirely different lines, and it is by so doing that it can render the greatest service to education, since the whole Junior college plan is in embryo.

Economists, labor leaders, students of public welfare are greatly alarmed over the early age at which men are being discarded from industry. The number of years a man has to provide for his years of inactivity and his family are decreasing to such an extent that it seems impossible for him to so provide. Obviously, a young man faced with such a condition hesitates to spend four years in college; four precious years which he might be spending in industry and attaining an executive position from which he would not be ousted at forty-five, or making provision for his old age. To meet this situation the Junior College has as great an opportunity as along any other line. To give the young man and young woman such fine training in the art of thinking, in the wisdom of the ages, to give them a taste for the highest and most permanent types of pleasures with which to fill their leisure moments, is a purpose well worth consideration.

Our own local educators, some of whom are among the finest in the country, can reveal other purposes which will stamp our local institution with a distinctive character which will prove one of the outstanding attractions of the county. They need the whole-hearted co-operation of the community.

MAKING KISSES SWEETER

"Feed the brute" has always applied in people's thought to food for the stomach, and it was this process by which the swain should be wooed.

It still holds good, however, but has a slightly different application when used by the president of the National Association of Cosmeticians and Hair Artists, for, says the president, "Flavor your lips with what John likes, whether it be strawberry, peach or orange." Better and sweeter kisses will be the result. Well, that's that.

However, speaking along that line, we notice that there were 4000 tons of face powder used last year by American women, besides 52,500 tons of cleansing cream, 26,250 tons of skin lotion, 19,000 tons of complexion soap, 17,500 tons of nourishing cream, 8,750 tons of foundation cream (whatever that is, we supposed that something about them was real, but now it seems that even the foundation is supplied), and there was over 6,000 tons of bath powder and 2300 tons of rouge.

The composite woman of America is some woman. Stuart Chase would wonder if she is getting "Her Money's Worth."

An optimist is a bridge player who passes after his partner has "bid" "one weak no trump." You might also call him a pessimist.

REDUCING SPACE

Now comes Schoenhair and travels from Los Angeles to the city of our boyhood, Cleveland, Ohio, in a little over 13 hours.

That's getting close together. Reduce it in the same proportion again, as it has been reduced in necessary distance to travel in the last 10 years, and Cleveland and Los Angeles will be suburbs one of the other. It will be nothing to commute from one to the other, and Chicago will be so close to Cleveland that it will hardly be worth while to start the engine.

However, we hardly would want to have gone with this flyer, unless he would have agreed to return equally as rapidly.

For the hay fever boys, this is just the sneezin' of the year.

GETTING OUR BEARINGS

Let's see, what was the world doing before that Zeppelin landed here?

Oh yes, there is a religious riot in Jerusalem; China and Russia are still at loggerheads; crime is still running rampant; it is rather hot in the middle of the day; we must get to work and write some editorials.

Yes, we have our bearings now.

Dreaded Fruit Fly Is Being Conquered

—Pasadena Star-News

Substantial advancement is being made by state and federal authorities in Florida in combatting the Mediterranean fruit fly. Secretary of Agriculture Hyde has revised and relaxed the quarantine against shipments of fruits and vegetables out of Florida. Products of properties not infested may ship to any part of the United States except states of the West and South, and Porto Rico.

There will be criticism of the Department of Agriculture, from some quarters, for relaxing the quarantine. There are those who feel that a rigid quarantine should be maintained upon all Florida products for a period long enough to make sure that the Mediterranean fruit fly has been completely banished from that state. Florida growers should be compensated for resultant losses. It would be a good investment, many believe, for the United States government to appropriate enough fully to cover the worth of all fruits and vegetables that normally would be grown in Florida and marketed, and this might well be kept up for two or three years, if necessary. The point that no cost is too great if this plague can be stamped out without gaining permanent foothold and spreading throughout the country.

The task will be easier for California and other states of the West and South, with the federal quarantine still holding against shipment of fruits and vegetables from Florida into this territory.

Can the Mediterranean fruit fly be conquered? He would be a timid American who would say "No." They said that yellow fever could not be conquered. But what did the United States do after the war with Spain? It cleaned out Havana and other Cuban ports—where infestation was bred and carried to the American mainland; it went to the Panama Isthmus and made that hitherto deadly zone a place as healthy as the ordinary locality in the United States.

What did the United States do about bubonic plague? Took hold of the menace so vigorously that the infection was stamped out before it made any serious headway.

Let them say that European countries, and other places in the Old World have fought the Mediterranean fruit fly in vain. The United States is not daunted by that fact. This country frequently accomplishes big things that the Old World has failed to accomplish.

The Mediterranean fruit fly can be and will be eradicated from the United States. But it will require time, money, effort and eternal vigilance in maintaining strict quarantines.

Making Amends

—Oakland Tribune

Those who do not know the man and the sincerity of his beliefs might suspect Conan Doyle of attempting to "spoon" Scotland Yard. His suggestion that the famous detective headquarters be supplied with clairvoyants, would seem to denote that same lack of confidence which was expressed by Sherlock Holmes. Holmes always got his man and, invariably, Scotland Yard was badly shown up in the process. The creator of Sherlock Holmes may be trying to even up for fictional slights or he may be trying to open up for that bumper crop of new detective story writers new fields and possibilities. It might be interesting to hear what the Scotland Yard Inspector has to say.

THE NEW FREEDOM

Parisian dressmakers are trying to win back women to long skirts.

As long as gowns designed for ladies
Entailed a total lack of ease,
The Dolls and Molls and Sues and Sadies
Bowed willingly to style's decrees.
Along the highways they paraded
Or at the race track, or the shore,
In rags that weighed as much as they did
And often quite a little more.

Each passing year the modes were altered
In many new and startling ways,
Madame was cabined, cribbed and haltered
In crinoline and hoops and stays.
But though each fashion was confining,
And cramped and hemmed her round about,
She spent no moments in repining
But bought it when it first came out.

But since the Betties, Babs and Bessies
Have gradually accustomed grown
To light abbreviated dresses,
Which let them breathe without a groan,
No matter what the modistes tell them
They will not muffle up their throats
Nor can Parisian stylists sell them
The old street sweeping petticoats.

They glory in their new found freedom:
And no Paquin nor Worth can lead 'em
To dress the way their mothers did.
Although we're not a seer or sage, or Born with the shrewd prophetic knack,
We still will confidently wager
The old time styles will not come back.

What's Wrong With This Picture

By WILLIAM TRUFANT FOSTER and WADDILL CATCHINGS

The senator flashed his famous smile. His visitor was shabby, but a vote is a vote—sometimes more.

"Now, sir, what can I do for you?"

"Well, Senator, I'm out of a job and my family—"

"Now, now," the Senator said hastily. "The United States is enjoying an era of unprecedented prosperity. The er—periodic unemployment to which you refer is an unavoidable phenomenon. Given time, it will automatically adjust itself. In the long run—"

"Yes, sir," his visitor nodded. "I read about that. Seems if I wait a year or two I may have a good chance to get a job. But—"

The Senator nodded approval. "Very clever, these statisticians," he said. "Yes, eighteen months, I should say, at the outside. Now, if you'll excuse me—"

"But Senator," the caller said apologetically. "I can't wait eighteen months. I've got to have a job NOW. My family—"

He gulped. "Say, Senator, couldn't you—"

"The Government can't MAKE jobs."

"They did in 1918," the man said plaintively. "But," he added hastily, "I don't mean MAKE one. Haven't they got one on hand? What's this talk about a new coast-to-coast highway? Couldn't they start it now?"

"What!" exclaimed the Senator. "With thousands out of jobs and all willing to work cheap? Do you realize what that would mean? This country, sir, has always been known as a lavish spender. How would it look to Europe if we started in to get our public works built at a bargain? Why, even materials cot too little now. No, sir, this country will wait until conditions are better. Then it can go into a snappy labor market and get some competition from private industry. When we build public works," he concluded finally, "we build at a price commensurate with the dignity of a great nation."

The shabby caller got wearily to his feet and read a headline splashed across a newspaper on the Senator's desk: "Kellogg Peace Pact!"

"Peace!" He laughed bitterly. "What this country needs," he muttered "is a good big war!"

Pop was smoking to himself and ma sed, Willyum, dont ever mention the name of Hannah Moody to me again.

As far as I know I never mentioned the name of Hannah Moody to a living sole or thawt of it to myself, pop sed. Who is the lady?

he sed, and ma sed, Dont you remember that disgusting thin girl
I use to go to high school with?

Her name izentt Moody any more but the principal is the same. And speaking of principals she never had any to speak of and as far as I can make out she hasent added any since. She dropped in to see me this morning, so of course out of sheer politeness I had to ask her to stay for lunch and of course she expected the invitation like a drowning straw. Leave it to Hannah Moody to take advantage of somebody at every chance, ma sed.

The woman awt to be in jail, pop
sed, and ma sed, I gave her an excellent chance to back out by explaining that I was on the Adelstein 18 day diet but that I would be ony too glad to send around to the store for something extar for her, but she never made a murmur so I sent Benny around for some lam chops at the present price of lam chops, its rediculus, so while I sat there trying to make the most of lunch number 3 consisting of half an orange and a cup of tea with one lump of sugar, Hannah Moody de-liberitly consumed lam chop after lam chop and potato after potato in the most insulting manner possible, and the miserable hypocritical bag of bones even went to the extreme of saying, Reely, Pawleen, she sed, I envy you, she sed, the more I eat the thinner I seem to get.
And then she went on to outline in itemized form the last 6 meals she had eaten, reely Willyum she mentioned enough food to give a marching army dispepsia and me there starvingly trying to stretch out my poor little lunch number 3 another inch or 2. Its my firm opinion, Willyum, that when a woman can eat like that and still stay that thin, there something not moral about her and I wish you would never mention her name to me agan, she sed.
I wont even mention any other woman of the same name, the viper, pop sed.

And he got behind the sportin' page and ma started to darn holes out of stockings especially mine.

Thoughts On Modern Life

FIVE HUNGERS OF CHILDHOOD

What is education?

From a thousand men you may get a thousand answers from a thousand angles.

"A child is not a bundle of adult potentialities," says Bernard Liddings Bell, in his "Common Sense in Education." "And an educator is not a magician prepared to draw in order out of the cranial receptacle intellectual and spiritual pots of flowers, bowls of gold-fish, American flags, social virtues,
good manners, Latin grammar, analytic geometry, and the rule of three. And the word education does not come from educate at all and had nothing to do with leading out. It comes from edu-care, as anyone can see who reads Cicero or troubles to note how Quintilian makes the world equivalent to nurture. It means to feed, to give nourishment. A growing child is not a mine of potentialities nearly so much as he is a bundle of insistent hungers."

If Dr. Bell is right, if children are made up of animated hungers, and if education is the enterprise of feeding those hungers intelligently, then it becomes important to know what are the fundamental hungers we should be trying to feed.

Again, there would be wide difference of opinion about these hungers, but Dr. Bell thinks the hungers of childhood are five in number, as follows:

First, the hunger for food.

It is part of the business of education to see to it that a sound body is maintained as a temple is as much a part of the child's education as the kindergarten. A balanced diet is as important as a balanced curriculum.

Second, the hunger for sex.

It is part of the business of education to rescue sex from the conspiracy of silence and to help growing children to appreciate its normal and healthy role in life.
The dawning questions that come with dawning sex consciousness must be met with sincerity instead of snickering and subterfuge.

Third, the hunger for experience.

It is part of the business of education to stimulate and to feed the child's normal hunger for new experience and for new knowledge.
A smug and self-satisfied child who never makes life miserable with his question is abnormal. We must not give our children our canned experience, but we must be good guides in their eager quest.

Fourth, the hunger for social security.

It is part of the business of education to save the child from becoming either a lone-wolf or a too-willing conformist. The child early hungers for the security of crowd support. He wants to be part of the gang. Here is a hunger that must be fed intelligently.

Fifth, the hunger for love.

It is part of the business of education so to feed the child's hunger for love, for approbation, that the food will prove a stimulant rather than a sedative. Love can be showered upon the child to the point where he feels that he is so thoroughly satisfactory to parents and teachers that he needs make no effort. On the other hand, starved of love, he grows sulky.

OUR CHILDREN

By ANGELO PATRI

SUCH A FUSS

Any one child can give a mother plenty to do but twins will give her a double plenty. Mrs. Cheeryble has twins: two boys. She does all her own work and thoroughly enjoys her twins. Mrs.
Nestly called at the house recently and found "great goings on."

"Such a fuss. My dear, you never saw such a to-do. And what about? The blessed twins had tied their own neckties.

"I knew you'd laugh. But it's a fact. I went in along toward late afternoon. The table was set with the gayest glass and china ever you saw. There were flowers at each plate. You'd think the president was expected.

"There was a big red stroke down the face of a big calendar that hung over the fireplace. Both of the boys were dressed up and they had big bow neckties beautifully tied. I'll say that for them.

"The boys were polishing the glasses and the silver, going around the table beaming like full moons, shining this and polishing that.

Mrs. Cheeryble had made an ice cream cake. Such a fuss.

"It was very nice. I must say that. And they were all as happy as toads in a shower. But imagine all that fuss. All that to-do because the children had tied their own neckties perfectly for the first time in their lives."

Hurrah for the lady who gave that party. If anything ever called for a celebration and a long red mark on the calendar, it was the day the twins surprised their mother by tying their neckties by themselves and perfectly. Don't you see what an occasion that was? These little boys had succeeded in helping themselves where before they had needed help. Henceforth they were to have the feeling of personal power. They were helpful, selfhelpful individuals from that day forward. It was like reaching their majority in childhood's growth. It demanded a party.

There is not half enough fuss made about the success of children. We make plenty about their failures, but we are likely to go along with the critical neighbor who saw nothing to fuss about when the twins found skill and power to tie their own bows.

We take successes for which children struggled hard as matters of course. We forget that what to us is a simple routine matter is for them a high occasion.

Celebrate every success and put the silence on the failures. Discuss them in private and devise ways and means for their correction. Success breeds success. One victory makes the next one easier and surer. A child who knows that there is waiting for him at home a most appreciative audience, a sympathetic ear, generous response to every effort will find effort worth while.

The child who lives in the family where things are taken for granted unless they are wrong, where successes are passed over lightly and failures dwell upon for endless days, will NOT find effort worth while and grow less anxious to succeed as experience proves work so fruitless. Make a joyful fuss, never mind the other kind, and even twins will be an easy matter.

BATTLE OF LONG ISLAND

The battle of Long Island took place on August 27, 1776, between American troops commanded by General Washington and British soldiers under General
Howe.

Washington had fortified Brooklyn Heights and stationed a large portion of his small force on the hills in front of that position. The night of Aug. 27, Howe attacked the outlying body of Americans, captured a mounted patrol, thrust his detachment between the two American forces and captured nearly the whole of one unit.
Howe stopped his soldiers in front of the heights.

Almost miraculously, Washington rescued the garrison and transported it across the East river to Manhattan Island. Then came delay after delay, but time didn't strengthen Washington's position.

Notwithstanding some brilliant strokes, the Americans were driven from Manhattan Island and the mainland north of it. With the main body, Washington retreated slowly across the Jerseys and finally into Pennsylvania.

The most serious disaster of this movement was the loss of Fort Mifflin at the end of Manhattan Island and its munitions of war.
